Global bullion exchange in Gujarat to help influence rate

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Gandhinagar

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday launched the India International Bullion Exchange (IIBX), the country's first such exchange near Gandhinagar.

The exchange will allow for traders and jewellers for the first time to directly buy and sell gold on its platform. Till now, gold could be imported only through government nominated banks and agencies.

This exchange will also facilitate efficient price discovery with the assurance of responsible sourcing and quality, apart from giving impetus to the financialization of gold. The Centre believes the exchange will help establish India as a dominant bullion trading hub in the world.

It will also help India influence global bullion prices as a principal consumer, since it is its second largest importer. India imported $46.14 bn worth of the precious metal in 2021-22.

"India is now standing in line with countries like the US, UK and Singapore from where global finance is given direction. Today, India is one of the largest economies in the world," said Modi at the launch of the exchange, which is situated in the International Financial Services Centre, Gift City.

The Centre is trying to establish Gift City as an international financial and technology hub on the lines of Singapore. The PM also launched the NSE IFSC-SGX Connect. Under this system, all orders on Nifty derivatives placed by members of the Singapore Exchange (SGX) will be routed to and matched on the NSE-IFSC order matching and trading platform.

"In the 21st century, finance and technology are linked. In technology, science and software, India has an edge and experience. Today, India alone has 40% share in real-time digital payments all over the world," Modi pointed out.

State police to investigate Fazil murder, spl teams to be set up: CM

Police officials stand guard at Mangalapet on the outskirts of Mangaluru city on Friday following the murder of Mohammed Fazil, 23, at Surathkal.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government on Friday decided to hand over BJP Yuva Morcha leader Praveen Nettaru's murder to the National Investigation Agency (NIA). Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said the case has inter-state ramifications, so it would be given to the NIA.

The decision was taken after Bommai met senior police officers on Friday. The Chief Minister told reporters that Praveen's murder was an organised and planned crime, and has an inter-state dimension. The issue was discussed with senior police officials from Kerala and information sought. "We will write to the Union Home ministry on getting complete details of the case and request for an NIA investigation," he said.

However, the Fazil murder case will be probed by state police. There has been a demand to hand over the Praveen case to NIA. Union Minister of State for Agriculture Shobha Karandlaje had urged Union Home Ministry to order an NIA probe into the murder. P4

TMC wakes up, assures job aspirants of justice

PRONAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

WITH the school teacher recruitment scam in West Bengal tarring the reputation of the ruling Trinamool Congress, the party scampered to make amends with Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's nephew Abhishek Banerjee meeting representatives of qualified candidates who were fraudulently denied jobs and assuring them of justice.

The meeting came 502 days after the candidates, robbed of jobs, began their sit-in demonstrations in Kolkata's Esplanade. Banerjee was forced to step in as the party had nowhere to hide after embarrassing photos surfaced of the ₹50 crore in currency notes and gold jewellery seized by the Enforcement Directorate from a couple of houses of arrested Trinamool heavyweight Partha Chatterjee's associate. Chatterjee was education minister when the fraud happened.

ADGP: No entry for under 21-yr-olds at pubs and bars

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A day after a students' party at a pub on Balmatta Road in Mangaluru was disrupted by right-wing activists, Alok Kumar, ADGP (Law & Order) instructed all police commissionerates (barring Bengaluru) and all district SPs to take measures to prevent minors from entering bars, pubs and wine stores. Eight boys and girls were found to be below 21 years at the Mangaluru pub.

In a circular issued by ADGP on Tuesday, Kumar also instructed his officers to take steps to curb use of drugs and drug peddling inside these places. The Karnataka Excise Department in 2015 raised the minimum drinking age from 18 to 21 under Section 10 of the Karnataka Excise Licences (General Conditions) Rules, 1967. "Minors were present at the pub in Mangaluru which is a violation of law. In this regard, the circular has been issued," Alok Kumar told TNIE.

Congman Ramesh at it again, this time heckles 2 journos

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolar

CONGRESS leader and former Karnataka Assembly Speaker Ramesh Kumar is in news for the wrong reasons again. This time he allegedly heckled two journalists who were covering a Congress party workers' meeting in Kolar on Friday.

Kumar lost his cool when the journalists tried to video-shoot the meeting in which his followers and supporters of former Union Minister KH Muniyappa were involved in a heated altercation. Both groups were abusing and pushing each other. Many Congress leaders including KPCC vice-president Narayanaswamy and legislators K.Y.Nanje Gowda, Anil Kumar, Nazeer Ahmed and ex-MLA Kothur Manjunath were present in the meeting during the chaos.

Some party workers climbed the stage and protested. When two journalists were recording it, Kumar allegedly heckled them on stage. The meeting, called to discuss Congress leader Siddaramaiah's birthday plans, ended abruptly due to the fracas.

As the news of the incident spread, journalists staged a protest in front of Congress Bhavan. Kumar however had left the venue but his supporters - Malur Congress MLA KY Nanje Gowda and MLC Anil Kumar apologised to the media. Kolar District Journalists Association president Gopinath, who led the protest, said the journalists were only doing their duty and did not deserve to be treated in this manner. He said the incident is highly condemnable and that as a senior leader Kumar should show respect to media persons.

Poster row

The trouble started when Muniyappa's supporters protested against his posters not put up on the route to Congress Bhavan in Kolar despite banners of the other leaders being there.

Raj Bhavan to KSTDC: Manage our hospitality

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

RAJ Bhavan is all set to get a facelift. For the first time, the office of the Governor of Karnataka has reached out to the Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation (KSTDC) to manage hospitality for them.

The proposal was sent to KSTDC, which is a wing of the tourism department, in June 2022 and since then the officials are busy preparing a plan which will be placed before Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot for approval.

"The hospitality of Raj Bhavan in Karnataka will be handed over to KSTDC. So far it was managed by in-house staff. The request came to us from the secretary of Raj Bhavan and they want it to be managed on the lines of Kumara Krupa Guest House and other KSTDC properties for the guests visiting Raj Bhavan," KSTDC Managing Director, Jagadeesha G told The New Indian Express.

The proposal has been made after many Governors, politicians and VIPs from other states have visited Kumara Krupa Guest House and other KSTDC properties including in Madikeri and given a positive feedback. "Recently, governors of Goa and Uttar Pradesh had visited Kumara Krupa Guest House and experienced our services first-hand", said KSTDC officials.

KSTDC is expected to manage the gardening, food, kitchen, five-star hotel type of services and hosting of guests. P5

Bad bank jobless, work may trickle in by Sept

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE National Asset Reconstruction Company (NARCL), which was supposed to start functioning in April, is yet to begin the process of acquiring stressed loans from banks.

Banking sources told this newspaper that no bank has begun the transfer of loans, which is likely to start only by the end of the September quarter. NARCL was supposed to acquire bad loans worth ₹51,000 crore by April 2022. However, it seems to be taking longer time than expected, to get its operations in place.

On Friday, Punjab National Bank MD and CEO Atul Kumar Goyal said that in the first phase, the bank will transfer eight accounts with bad loans amounting to ₹2,486 crore by the end of the September quarter. While he did not elaborate on the reasons for the delay in transferring the loans, he said the banks are expected to complete the process by the end of the current quarter.

NARCL, also known as the bad bank, will acquire and aggregate the bad loans from lenders and then transfer the same to India Debt Resolution Company (IDRCL) for resolution of those loans. It is likely to acquire ₹2 lakh crore of stressed loans from the banking sector. The lenders will receive 15% upfront cash payment and the rest in the form of security receipts guaranteed by the government of India for their face value.

'Contract teachers paying agencies is exploitation'

Appointments made by calling for tenders, HC judge observes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

EXPRESSING serious concern over appointing teachers on contract basis to state-run residential schools through outsourcing agencies by calling tenders, the Karnataka High Court observed that "if a teacher from out of his monthly salary has to pay, month on month, a portion of his salary to the outsourcing agency, under the head of service charges, there cannot be any better exploitation of human labour by the state".

The court also observed, "the Karnataka Residential Educational Institutions Society resorted to outsourcing. Outsourcing agencies have mushroomed into mountainous proportions in the past 10 to 15 years. It is because of the policy of the state to make appointments through outsourcing agencies. Since it is in the realm of policy, this court would not pronounce on its permissibility or otherwise, but what needs to be noticed with concern is the fact that appointments to the post of teachers are also being made through agencies by calling for tenders".

Justice M Nagaprasanna made this observation while disposing of the petitions filed by hundreds of teachers of residential schools such as Navodaya Model Residential Schools, Morarji Desai Model Residential Schools, Ekalavya Residential Schools, Kittur Rani Chennamma Residential Schools and Minority Residential Schools, which are run by the Karnataka Residential Educational Institutions Society, seeking regularisation of their services.

The court noted that it would be open to state government to consider regularising services of petitioners, bearing observations made in the order, adding that the state should endeavour to recruit teachers in terms of the Cadre and Recruitment Rules.

A teacher is a dynamic force, the lamp of knowledge, a harbinger who would mould, hone and chisel the life and living of a child. It is for this reason a teacher would need security of tenure and not suffer vagrancies with regard to work or wages, as they need to be dynamic — Justice M Nagaprasanna

NGT notice to BBMP on lake encroachments

Bengaluru: Following complaints on lake encroachments and BBMP failing to take proper action to protect water bodies, the National Green Tribunal (NGT) has also reportedly sent notice to BBMP lake division warning that actions will be taken for failing to follow order. Last week, Karnataka high court had directed the Palike to clear encroachment at Begur and Subramanyapra lake, and complete marking of encroached area in 10 days, issuing notices to encroachers. Take action within a month, BBMP was told. Speaking to TNIE, Special Commissioner Ramprasat Manohar said, "Following the court order, the Palike has directed the Executive Engineer of lake division to clear the encroachment in lakes and file an action taken report in a month." Echoing the same, a senior official said that the BBMP is alert now since the court as well as the NGT are monitoring the situation. The court had earlier pulled up the BBMP lake division after it had submitted a timeline of 106 days to remove encroachments. The court had warned that engineers will be suspended if order was not complied with.The public and lake activists were furious since complaints to BBMP and the police did not yield results, and a PIL was filed.

Try out Agnipath before rejecting it: Kargil hero

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A veteran of the Kargil War Captain Naveen Nagappa said that Agnipath scheme should be tried out because it could ultimately lead to improvement of the military.

He was speaking at the National Gallery for Modern Art in Bengaluru, which is hosting a three-day celebration on the 23rd anniversary of the Kargil War.

Although there is natural resistance to change, he said that the scheme could give Indian Army better advantage.

"The Agnipath scheme deserves to be tried and tested before ruling it out as the government is trying to save defense pension budget for utilising it as capital investments for better arms and ammunition. Earlier it was boots-on-the-ground approach, the scenario has changed. Lesser forces and better technology will give us a better advantage," he said.

"The impact of media on the Kargil war was immense, especially since it was the first war to be televised across India. Seeing the bodies of martyrs reach home was rare. Both these factors contributed to a surge in patriotic feeling among citizens," he said.

The gallery will be screening documentaries on Kargil war till July 31.

E-checking of tickets begins on 4 train pairs

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A major step towards digitalisation was taken in the Bengaluru Railway Division last fortnight when ticket-checking staff of three pairs of trains, running between Bengaluru and Chennai, and one pair to New Delhi began using the Hand Held Terminals (HHTs) for checks on board.

The terminals were deployed by staff on four major trains departing from the City -- Bengaluru-MGR Chennai Central Shatabdi Express, KSR Bengaluru-Dr MGR Chennai Central Lalbagh Express, Bengaluru-MGR Chennai Superfast Express and the Yesvantpur-Delhi Duronto Express. The HHTs were used in the return direction too of all the trains..

A top railway official said a proposal has been sent to the Division headquarters in Hubballi seeking consent to add eight more pairs of trains under the digital chart system. "The switchover to the environment-friendly move of electronic checking will benefit passengers as it ensures instant allotment of vacant berths as well as create transparency in berth allotment," said a top official.

While the digital chart was launched on July 25 inside the Shatabdi, it was used by TTEs in the Superfast Express and Lalbagh Express from July 18 and in Duronto Express from July 16. At present, half of the staff in commercial department have been trained in using these terminals, another official said.

PETER VIDAL

30TH July : I was listening to a famous actress being interviewed on the radio the other day. The presenter was complimenting her on her beautiful apartment and she replied 'Yes it's so Taurean'. I don't know about you, but I love Taurean people for their ability to create luxurious and pleasing environments - when they can be bothered, of course!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You may be caught in the crossfire today, but only if you've trodden on somebody's toes or transgressed a financial understanding. This is not an ideal day for gamblers, so cast a wary eye over seductive offers and seek whatever sensible support is yours by rights.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
According to the basic laws of astrology, every extreme condition is balanced by its opposite. Therefore, you may find that one particular decision is about to be completely reversed. Certain decisions may be totally undone probably to your relief!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Argumentative planetary aspects get you going, and I wouldn't be surprised if you spend part of the weekend walking around with your foot in your mouth. Still, you may be as much sinned against as sinning, so don't take all the blame. Do, though, realise that you can play your part in improving things.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Only you know what needs to be done and how to do it. The snag is that you currently lack certain practical skills. You may also be too impatient to grapple with the necessary details. But, then, impatience is, after all, one of your less-known weaknesses!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You may get tired of partners lecturing you, but you may just have to put up with it for now! Travel stars are very strongly emphasised, but you're probably not quite sure what you want or where you should go. The best bet is to arrange a trip somewhere inspiring, rather than an ordinary run-of-the-mill break.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The problem today seems to lie in the ease with which happy-go-lucky events can suddenly turn into bad-tempered confrontations. The cause is people's readiness to pick up the wrong end of the stick, so it may be up to you to get the facts clear.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The Moon's relationship with the more subtle areas of your chart makes this a day which may be uneventful, but, when the general trend suits you, you'll pick up speed and achieve something quite unexpected. Your peacemaking skills will be extraordinarily useful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The chances are that you will now have to lay down the law and set the world to rights. Friends, associates and loved ones must be made to see that, as far as you are concerned, they have over-stepped the mark. What you have to do now is get them back into line.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
This period does seem to be rather tense but in a good way. As far as you are concerned, the next few days may be considerably more pleasurable than the past week, with pressure to enjoy yourself all round. There might be a bit of emotional mopping up to be done first.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The Moon aligns with one of your travel houses, giving you due cause to take whatever short trips are on your mind. Given that it's a good day to hold discussions and negotiations, you will get your way if you follow the still, small voice of your intuition.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Appropriately enough, it's a good time for short journeys. Take quick trips and get out and about as much as possible. All you need to do is seize the initiative, rather than wait around until other people take the lead. Otherwise you might just begin to feel as if life is passing you by.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Your major weakness at the present time is your tendency to go behind people's backs, but be aware that misunderstandings may result. Try to be clearer about your intentions. Any challenging aspects over the next few weeks should only serve to remind you that not everyone has your breadth of vision.

City's Sparsh Hospital adopts robo tech for joint surgeries

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MINISTER for IT/BT and Higher Education Dr C N Ashwath Narayan on Friday unveiled the 'Mako-Robotic Arm' technology to be used for joint replacement surgeries, delivering more predictable surgical outcomes with increased accuracy. As part of the initiative, a 3D printing technology, Kinevo 900 3D microscope, and the Sparsh patient portal app was also launched.

Addressing the audience at the launch, Dr Narayan spoke about reinventing healthcare and innovating advancements, calling innovation "the way of life" and Karnataka the land of innovation, and that the state has been declared the most innovative for three years now.

He appreciated Sharan Patil, chairman, Sparsh Hospital, for his efforts in innovating and providing healthcare to the state and country. Speaking about IT/BT, he added that it is a very inspiring area for advancement through technology in all aspects.

Dr Patil said a robot is tireless, and surgery with robo-tech is less painful with faster recovery. Precision technology has the least amount of unwanted effects, and the robot helps make healthcare affordable and accessible as it is able to perform more surgeries, he added.

He envisioned making it accessible to rural India, and with a big number of healthcare professionals coming from the country, it can be the biggest exporter of medical science, he added.

African national isolated in Bengaluru hospital; sample sent to NIV, Pune

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

AN African national, who is suspected to have contracted monkeypox, has been isolated at a private hospital in Bengaluru. His samples were sent for testing to NIV, Pune, on Thursday evening, and reports are awaited, sources said.

The African had arrived from Ethiopia on July 4 to undergo a kidney transplant at a private hospital. He was undergoing dialysis and pre-transplant evaluations, and showed symptoms of monkeypox, including rashes on the skin. Since he is from Ethiopia and the incubation period of the virus sometimes stretches beyond 20 days, his blood and skin lesions were sent for testing. He is under treatment at the private hospital, sources said.

So far, this is the second suspected sample of monkeypox sent for testing from Karnataka. The first sample was of a person from Bengaluru with a travel history to the United Kingdom, and was sent to NIV, Pune, last week from a private hospital in Bengaluru. The report came negative, sources said.

The Virus Research and Diagnostic Laboratory (VRDL) at Bengaluru Medical College and Research Institute (BMRCI) was already identified as one of the 15 designated labs in the country for monkeypox surveillance by NIV ICMR. Samples of suspected cases from Bengaluru were received by VRDL and sent to NIV, Pune. The lab was identified for testing from Thursday, but is awaiting testing kits.

"We are on high alert. We have directed private hospitals to alert the health department whenever they come across suspect cases," health officials said.

Ugandan legal aide stayed illegally for 17 years, deported

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 48-year-old Ugandan who was legal adviser to the All-Africa Students Union in Bengaluru, was deported for staying illegally in the country for over 17 years. Bosco Kaweesi, who helped African nationals in the city with legal aid, had used his 'legal adviser' tag as a shield to protect himself from law agencies. Police recovered 24 passports of African nationals from his house. Of these passports, 22 belonged to women. Electronic gadgets and bank passbooks were also recovered from him. The house owner who rented out his premises to Kaweesi was also booked.

City Police Commissioner CH Pratap Reddy has requested foreign nationals not to fall prey to such people by handing over their documents.

"A 'Leave India' notice was served to Bosco by the authorities for violating visa conditions. Once such a notice is issued against a foreigner, the person should leave the country. Accordingly, he was sent back to Uganda," Bheemashankar Guled, Deputy Commissioner of Police, East division, told TNIE.

Bosco Kaweesi came into the limelight during the 2016 incident of a BBA student who was reportedly chased, stripped and beaten by a mob in Soladevanahally area. He was once arrested in 2006 and sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment of six months. Since then, he was evading police by shifting to different parts of the country.

Kaweesi had arrived in Mumbai in 1995 on a student visa, which was in force till 1998. He got his visa extended and was eligible to stay till August 2005. He sought extension of visa on December 24, 2005, which was not granted till date, but he stayed on in India for nearly 17 years.

He had also moved the High Court, and his petition was dismissed in March 2022. He had married an Indian, Rosa Gadekar Siddi, 38, from Haliyal in Uttara Kannada, in an effort to remain in the country. Despite this, the 'Leave India' notice was issued against him.

Cases of fibroids on rise, but few seek early help

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

CASES of fibroids in the uterus among women have doubled in the past two decades, with women shifting focus from family to career, which results in late marriages and late pregnancies, besides stress in professional life and lifestyle changes, say doctors. July is observed as Fibroid Awareness Month.

"But 40-50 per cent of women suffering from fibroids in the uterus are unaware of this gynaecological condition. Despite prolonged heavy menstrual bleeding and severe pelvic pain, at least 25-35 per cent of women do not consult gynaecologists, until the signs worsen," said Dr Deepak Rao, consultant-laparoscopy and gynaecological surgeries, Motherhood Hospitals, Bengaluru.

"Many are reluctant to consult a doctor on issues like fibroids as they are hesitant to undergo a gynaecologic examination," said Dr Nirmala C, consultant obstetrics gynaecology and gynae oncology, BGS Gleneagles Global Hospital.

Dr Rao warned that if left untreated, fibroids can cause severe anaemia. Submucosal fibroids, close to the lining of the uterus, can make it harder to support conception and maintain pregnancy. Fibroids that block the fallopian tubes can cause fertility issues. Small fibroids which may grow in size during pregnancy, can lead to complications like pre-term labour and miscarriages. Large fibroids can put pressure on other organs in the abdomen and pelvis, including the bladder and bowel, leading to constipation, frequent urination and back pain, he said.

Dr Rao said a majority of women suffering from fibroids are young, aged between 25 and 35 years, and want to conceive. Most of them fear that removal of the uterus is the only solution, and are unaware that the uterus can be saved with advanced laparoscopic procedures.

Every woman over 35 years of age must get assessed for fibroids once a year, so that help is timely, he added.

CONSTABLE ARRESTED FOR RAPING MINOR

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

The KP Agrahara police on Friday arrested a 24-year-old police constable under POCSO for allegedly raping a 17-year-old girl, who had run away from home after quarrelling with her parents. The constable had taken her to his room on the pretext of helping her and then allegedly raped her.

A senior police officer said the constable, working in the West Division, noticed the girl sitting alone at a park at Vijayanagar on Wednesday evening. The girl had left her home without informing her parents three days ago and her parents had filed a missing case. The girl was traced on Thursday and she revealed the incident to her parents, who then alerted the police.

The constable, after raping the girl, had given her money, told her to return home and threatened her not to reveal the incident to anyone.

The police officer who recorded her statement identified the police constable. The accused was taken into police custody and he confessed to the crime during interrogation. He will be remanded to judicial custody on Saturday.

Ashwath: 'Encountering' of accused on the table

Not just follow UP model, we'll go five steps ahead, says minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN an attempt to send out a message to staunch BJP workers, senior BJP leader and Higher Education minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan on Friday said the state government may go to the extent of "encountering" the accused, who killed innocent party workers.

"We will respond to the aspirations of the people. We will not only implement the Uttar Pradesh model, but go five steps ahead to take stringent action," he told reporters in Ramanagara.

Defending Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Home Minister Araga Jnaendra, he said they are functioning efficiently.

"The anguish of BJP workers at this juncture is natural. The accused have already been arrested and action initiated. There is no question of protecting the killers and perpetrators as teams have been formed to conduct the probe. Protecting the lives of innocent people and party workers is our duty," he said.

Praveen Nettaru

On Congress insisting on imposing a ban on Popular Front of India (PFI) and Socialist Democratic Party of India (SDPI), he shot back, saying the opposition party does not have any moral right to speak as it had indulged in appeasement politics that led to the present unrest in the society. "There is no difference between Congress leaders and traitors," he charged.

"KPCC president DK Shivakumar has dug his own pit and we need not be a party to it. Undoubtedly, we will put an end to DKS culture by cleansing his kind of politics in Kanakapura," asserted the minister when asked about Shivakumar's allegation that BJP is trying to fix him in the Enforcement Directorate case.

Religious leaders told to be alert

UDUPI: The police have advised religious leaders in Udupi district to be on alert and not venture out alone after dark. Security has also been beefed up with checkpoints set up in rural and city limits. Police sources said though there is no specific intelligence about any attack, such measures are being put in place as a precaution. The police have asked the public to tip them about any suspicious activity. Meanwhile, shop owners in Kodavoor ward have decided to observe a bandh from 9 am to 3 pm on Saturday to protest against the murder of Praveen Nettar. ENS

BJYM leaders start work to get resigned members back

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

After hordes of BJP Yuva Morcha (BJYM) and party social media wing members resigned from their posts after the murder of Praveen Nettaru, expressing anger and disillusionment against the BJP government and party leaders, the process has now begun to persuade them to get back.

BJP leaders, however, ruled out the possibility of these members shifting their loyalties to other Hindutva groups or floating their own units. Interestingly, it was only district and taluk level BJYM members who resigned, while state and national level leaders stayed put.

Now, BJYM national president and Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya and state president Dr Sandeep, who visited Praveen's family on Friday, and social media wing state chief Vinod Krishnamurthy have swung into action to convince the workers to withdraw their resignations.

"It was part of a tool kit to create a rift within us. The young workers reacted emotionally, but they will withdraw their resignations soon. We have spoken to all of them. Even if they shift to any other pro-Hindu organisation, they cannot dissociate themselves from BJP," Vinod said.

Pramod Muthalik was stopped at Hejamady checkpost on Friday

But some workers, handling social media at the district level, remained neutral. "I have stopped putting up posts on behalf of the party and continue to be neutral," a leader said.

Meanwhile, Karwar City and Rural BJYM office-bearers wrote an apology to state party chief Nalin Kumar Kateel for their statement that they will call for a bandh when Bommai and Home Minister Araga Jnanendra visit Karwar. "We made that statement emotionally following the murder of Praveen Nettaru. Action has been taken by arresting the accused and the government stood by the family of the deceased," they clarified.

Muthalik heading to meet Praveen's family stopped

Udupi: Sri Rama Sene chief Pramod Muthalik, who was heading to meet the family members of Praveen Nettaru at Bellare in Dakshina Kannada district, was stopped at the Hejamady checkpost on NH 66 in Udupi district's border on Friday.

The DK administration had banned Muthalik's entry into Bantwal, Belthangady, Puttur, Kadaba and Sullia taluks as per Section 144(3) of CrPC on Thursday. When Muthalik requested the police to allow him to pass, they showed him the order copy.

Earlier in Udupi, Muthalik said, "Leaders in BJP have made property for three generations. Those resigning now are true Hindu ideologues. There should be no action-reaction method in these sensitive times. Leaders of all communities should sit together and talk for peace," he said.

DK on high alert after 3 murders

VINCENT D'SOUZA @Mangaluru

The communally sensitive Dakshina Kannada district has been put on high alert following three back-to-back murders in a span of 10 days.

Security has been beefed up in the district with additional forces deployed in sensitive areas and checkposts set up at several places, including in places along the Kerala border. A route march was carried out at Surathkal on Friday and several people moving around suspiciously were detained.

Prohibitory orders under Section 144 of the CrPC have been extended till 6 am on Monday. During the period, liquor shops will remain closed, while other shops and business establishments will be shut between 6 pm and 6 am.

Mohammed Fazil, a 23-year-youth, who was murdered at Surathkal on Thursday, was laid to rest on Friday. The funeral was attended by thousands of people, while Fazil's family had requested politicians to stay away. As a precautionary measure, a holiday was declared for schools and colleges in four police station limits of Surathkal, Mulky, Panamburu and Bajpe on Friday.

Hundreds of mourners attend the funeral of Mohammed Fazil on Friday

Alok Kumar, ADGP, Law and Order told reporters that the investigation into Fazil's murder has begun and they are looking for the owner of the car in which the culprits arrived.

Mangaluru City Police Commissioner N Shashi Kumar said Fazil was not associated with any organisation or political party.

After finishing his diploma in fire safety, he was looking for a job and in the meantime, was also doing some odd jobs. Several people have been picked up for questioning, he added.

Meanwhile, Bellare PSI Rukmaya Naik and Subramanya PSI Jamburaj, who had ordered a lathicharge during the funeral of Praveen on Wednesday, were transferred to the IGP office in Mangaluru on Friday.

Security beefed up in Mangaluru after back-to-back murders

Muslims feel let down as CM skips Masood's house

VINCENT D'SOUZA @Mangaluru

THE Muslim community in Dakshina Kannada district is feeling let down after Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai skipped visiting the house of Masood, an 18-year-old youth who was murdered in Bellare recently, when he called on the family of murdered BJP leader Praveen Nettaru on Thursday.

When the news of chief minister's visit to Praveen's family spread, many had requested that he also call on Masood's family to show that the government is unbiased.

DYFI state president Muneer Katipalla had said the families of both Praveen and Masood have suffered equally because of communal hatred and Bommai should console the two families to maintain 'Rajyadharma'.

Also, to visit Praveen's family at Nettaru, the chief minister passed through Bellare where Masood's house is located. But Bommai did not visit Masood's house to console his mother and aged grandparents.

While the chief minister's decision is being seen as a political compulsion in the wake of outrage from saffron cadres following Praveen's death, many feel that being a head of the state, Bommai should have acted impartially.

Articulating the community's feeling, UT Khader, deputy leader of opposition in the Assembly, said the pain that the mothers of Masood and Praveen felt due to the tragic death of their sons is the same. "If the CM, who took the oath that he will treat all equally, takes such a stand, then how can justice be expected from the police who work under him," he asked.

Political commentator Prof Chandra Poojary termed the chief minister skipping Masood's house as "anti-constitutional", adding that it is nothing but an extension of BJP's politics of polarisation. Such politics is dangerous for the country and will only worsen the current situation, he warned.

CCTVs to be installed along Kerala border

STRESSING on security measures, Bommai said CCTV cameras would be installed at the Karnataka-Kerala border crossings, and directions have been given to set up checkposts. Temporary police camps would also be set up in sensitive areas in villages across the coastal region. Vacant posts in the police department would be filled, night patrolling intensified and an additional battalion of KSRP would be deployed in Dakshina Kannada district, he added.

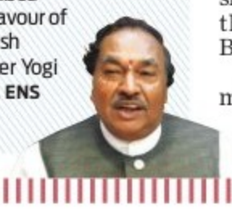
On the Surathkal murder, Bommai said it has been decided to intensify investigation. "The culprits should be nabbed. Special teams should be constituted to crack the case," he said, adding that peace meetings would be held with religious leaders at the district level.

Earlier in the day, the CM had stated that the government is taking strong measures in the coastal region, including Dakshina Kannada and Udupi. The meeting would go into issues like vigil at 55 roads connecting the Kerala border. "The government has taken the killings seriously. While visiting Praveen's home, I received information about the killing of one more youth. The state government has taken all three cases very seriously. For us, the life of every person is important," he said.

Bommai alleged that there is political instigation for anti-social forces.

Slogans against BJP in front of KSE

Shivamogga: Hindu activists staged a protest against the murder of BJP youth leader Praveen Nettaru and shouted slogans against BJP leaders here on Saturday. Interestingly, party leaders -- former minister K S Eshwarappa and MP B Y Raghavendra -- were present at the demonstration. A section of youth workers shouted slogans against party leaders. They also raised slogans in favour of Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath. ENS



Cong terms Bommai 'weak', CM hits back

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru/Mysuru

THE opposition Congress and the BJP on Saturday hit back at each other over the law and order situation in the state following the murder of BJP youth leader Praveen Nettaru.

Slamming the state government, Congress leader Siddaramaiah said Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Home Minister Arana Jnanendra should take responsibility for the situation, and termed Bommai as a weak CM.

Holding the BJP government responsible for the murders in Mangaluru and Suratkal, Siddaramaiah said the government "miserably failed" in maintaining the law and order situation.

"The intelligence department is handled by the Chief Minister. The murders in the state is a collective failure of the CM, Intelligence Department and the Home Minister. The government is not in a position to provide even basic safety and people are living in fear and have lost faith in the government," he said.

Hitting back at the Congress leader, Bommai said 32 people were killed during the tenure of Siddaramaiah. "What was he doing then? It is not right to indulge in politics over every issue. His statements have no significance," the CM told reporters in Bengaluru.

The CM said activists of the PFI and SDPI were involved in the murder attempt on Congress MLA Tanveer Sait. But the Siddaramaiah government freed about 200 activists of these organisations and they are again indulging in heinous acts now, he said.

The CM said the state government is taking swift action. Responding to allegations that the BJP is funding PFI and SDPI, the CM said, "This is a laughable statement."

GOVT EMPLOYEES TOLD TO HOIST FLAG

BENGALURU: Government employees across Karnataka have been directed to hoist the Tricolour at their houses from August 13 to 15 as part of the 'Har Ghar Tiranga' campaign. Govt to allow pvt parties to manage monuments

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Galibore (Ramanagara dist)

AS part of its Tourism Policy 2020-26, the state government is all set to call for tenders to hand over monuments, including the fort built by Nadaprabhu Kempe Gowda at Magadi, to private parties to revamp, operate and maintain them for five years.

The state has around 25,000 such monuments, but eight will be considered under the scheme initially.

The Ramanagara Tourism Investors' Conclave was held here on Friday on the premises of Jungle Lodges and Resorts under the leadership of district in-charge and Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan. The conclave passed a resolution to develop Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's scheme 'adopt a monument' mentioned in the budget.

The international consultancy company, KPMG, has partnered with the government to explore tourism potential in the state. The firm is looking at agri and caravan tourism in a few districts, while identifying Ramanagara for the Meetings, Incentives, Conferences and Exhibitions (MICE) tourism.

With an investment of Rs 5,000 crore, the government expects to generate 10 lakh jobs through 1,700 projects.

Ashwath Narayan promised subsidies of up to Rs 2 crore to investors under 26 different categories of tourism.

Ramanagara will be made a tourism hub, he added.

Single-window systems at the district level will clear projects and also look into environmental aspects as the forest department has opened its gates for tourism, said Joint Director Janardhan.

Around 20 probable investors and experts took part in the conclave.

NEP gives youth freedom to make decisions: Modi

Don't want to restrict students to just getting degrees, says TN CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

THE new National Education Policy (NEP) gives youth greater freedom to make decisions according to evolving situations, said PM Narendra Modi at the 42nd convocation of Anna University held on Friday. Citing reforms initiated by the BJP-led central government, the PM, who shared the dais with Tamil Nadu CM MK Stalin, said the ruling NDA has changed the notion that a strong government means controlling everything and everyone.

Sharing his views at the event on education guided by the Dravidian model, Stalin said, "The Dravidian ideology of social justice is based on education for everyone." "We are bringing in an education revolution. We don't want to restrict students to just getting degrees. We are aiding them in getting jobs, learning life skills, and achieving social growth," he added.

PM Narendra Modi receives a memento from Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin in Chennai on Friday

The PM, who awarded gold medals to 69 toppers in various departments of the university, called the graduating students as the leaders of tomorrow and said the whole world is looking at India's youth with hope as they are the growth engines of a country which is the world's growth engine.

Speaking about the change in approach towards governance brought in by the BJP-led Centre, Modi said, "A strong government is not restrictive but is responsive. A strong government does not move into every domain. It limits itself and makes space for people's talents." He added that such a government's strength lies in its humility to accept that it cannot know or do everything. He cited the removal of angel tax and retrospective tax, and reduction of corporate tax as reforms that would encourage investments, and said the reforms in drone, space, and geospatial sectors would open up new avenues.

Dasara Golden Pass will include themed package tours

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

MAKING most of the opportunity to draw tourists to Karnataka during Mysuru Dasara, the tourism department is chalking out package tours going beyond the Nada Habba, for domestic and international tourists.

The Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation (KSTDC) is seeking government approval to get 1,000 Golden Passes for Mysuru Dasara. These passes will be utilised not just to show tourists the jumboo savari, but also to visit destinations like Chikkamagaluru, Madikeri, Melkote, Belur and Halebid. Theme-based packages will be offered to those planning a visit to see the state festival.

KSTDC Managing Director Jagadeesha G told The New Indian Express that Dasara is being held in a grand manner after a gap of two years. It is not just an opportunity to draw more people to Mysuru, but also to Karnataka.

Speaking on the sidelines of the inauguration of the three-day India International Travel Mart, Jagadeesha said: "Usually fewer passes are given, but this time we are asking for 1,000 so that more people can be drawn. We are planning day packages and longer package tours for people. Each pass would be charged around Rs 5,000. The tour is being planned in such a way that tourists can experience Mysuru Dasara and also visit other places. The aim is to increase turnover for the tourism sector."

On the occasion, e-brochure services were also launched, where tourists can scan QR codes for details of hotels and services, and book instantly. The three-day long mart being held in Bengaluru has over 200 participants from various travel and trade organisations and tourism boards. A stall by the Union tourism ministry under the theme Azadi Ka Amrut Mahotsav, is a big draw. Over 20 Indian states and six international destinations (Singapore, Malaysia, Dubai, Thailand, Maldives and Nepal) are participating in the mart to sell holiday packages. The tourism department is marketing the event for a boost ahead of Mysuru Dasara.

Hubballi campus of Infosys to start ops

@ Hubballi

INFOSYS is likely to start its operation from Hubballi Campus on August 1. The transfer process of its interested employees has been completed,.

The IT giant had built a campus spanning 3.64 lakh sqft in 2018 near Hubballi Airport. The Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board had allotted 43.05 acres of land under the special economic zone category.

People in Hubballi urged the company to make use of its available campus in the city, and started #StartInfosysHubli campaign last month. They sent 10,000 letters to the CM, urging him to make the campus operational. While Infosys head office is in Bengaluru, the other centres are in Mysuru and Mangaluru.

Infosys held a meeting with its staffers at its Hubballi campus on July 15, with Associate vice-president Nithyanand Yeswanth chairing it. The firm asked employees to give a letter of consent if they were interested to work at Hubballi Development Centre (DC). "Several staffers have expressed interest to work from Hubballi DC. However, official confirmation is awaited," said an official on condition of anonymity. Civic activist Santosh Nargund, who spearheaded the campaign, welcomed the move.

CM bats for schemes to make women self-employed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that schemes must be identified for self-employment of women in every gram panchayat for which a detailed project report (DPR) is necessary.

He was speaking at the signing of an MoU between Sanjeevini - Karnataka State Rural Livelihoods Promotion Society (KSRLPS) and e-commerce company Meesho on Thursday to support and empower 2,500 self-help groups in the state. "Women, who comprise half of the society, should be involved in economic activities. The products need to be introduced at the global level through branding, marketing facilities in collaboration with online commercial entities like Meesho," he said.

Asserting that self-reliance is vital for a dignified life, he said, "Specific schemes for self-employment of women should be identified in each gram panchayat which can usher in a huge change in the lives of thousands of women, and for a life of self-respect. The government will provide necessary assistance," the CM said.

The MoU will work towards helping women in rural areas digitise their products and businesses to reach out to a wider audience. "Karnataka is home to several MSMEs which have the potential to grow their businesses online. We will provide the self-help groups with the tools and guidance needed," said Meesho founder and CEO Vidit Aatrey.

A DYSFUNCTIONAL PARLIAMENT IS A COLLECTIVE FAILURE

At an all-party meeting called by the NDA government on the eve of the first budget session of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's government in 2015, Modi underlined the collective responsibility of government and opposition in the smooth functioning of Parliament. The then parliamentary affairs minister, Venkaiah Naidu, said no issue couldn't be resolved if approached with an open mind. He emphasised the spirit of cooperation for the effective running of Parliament. The relations between the government and the opposition over time have ruptured, and parliamentary work has reached a standstill. Issues of public concern the Members of Parliament are expected to raise are the biggest casualty.

Parliament has two key functions—making laws and scrutinising the government's functioning. The latter has become so contentious that it has led to a stalemate. The executive should not shy away from allowing the opposition to hold the government accountable for its actions. That is one of the primary reasons why Parliament exists. The opposition has a constitutionally guaranteed right to scrutinise the government's actions. Debates, discussions, questions and motions are the opposition's tools to raise issues of public concern. That said, the opposition is also duty-bound to raise issues by following set procedures. There is a Business Advisory Committee (BAC) in both Houses. It decides the House business. It is where the government and the opposition fix the duration and slots for taking up mutually-agreed items.

There is no reason why the government and the opposition cannot agree on the day's agenda in the BAC. They always did so in the past. But the political strain between the present ruling and opposition parties is affecting parliamentary work. The spirit of cooperation is missing. Instead of reaching out to the suspended parliamentarians on a 50-hour relay day-night fast, parliamentary affairs minister Prahlad Joshi mocked them by asking if they had come to Parliament for 'charcha' or 'chicken', referring to the meals served to the protestors. Senior BJP leader Rajnath Singh once said that democracy could not survive without the opposition. The government and opposition leaders need to resolve the impasse in the interest of democracy.

CASH BAILOUT ALONE CAN'T HELP BSNL

Loss-making state-run telco BSNL got another shot at life with the government's ₹1.64 lakh crore bailout package. The four-year turnaround plan includes a cash component of ₹44,000 crore and a non-cash component of ₹1.2 lakh crore, which together will help upgrade the operator's network to 4G and de-stress its balance sheet. Nearly 70% of the support will come through in the next 1–2 years, showing the need and urgency to revive the ailing telco. First, the government will expedite 900/1800 MHz spectrum allocation, fund 4G deployment and revive existing unviable rural wireline operations. Lastly, both BSNL and MTNL will get a sovereign guarantee to raise long-term loans of ₹40,399 crore, while for BSNL, AGR dues will see an equity swap to improve balance sheet strength. All these efforts should help BSNL turn a corner by FY27, nearly two decades after it was last profitable in FY09.

It's pertinent to note that BSNL's first ₹70,000 crore bailout package in 2019 didn't deliver. Though it addressed the excess workforce issue, reducing losses by half and total expenditure by 24%, it's the other and most crucial part of the package that didn't yield. In 2019, the government had provided ₹24,000 crore for 4G services, but BSNL wasn't technology-ready, which led to declining revenues. Even today, it lacks 4G connectivity on a pan-India basis—a decade after 4G services first began and just when competitors are moving towards 5G. Worse, BSNL even surrendered unutilised 2G spectrum last year in the 900/1800 MHz bands, where most operators have subscribers.

Agreed, BSNL has a distinctive presence in far-flung areas, improving rural teledensity considered unviable by private operators. But profits from a social objective are always slim, meaning BSNL needs autonomy and separation from bureaucracy to take commercial decisions for the wireless and broadband segment, where its market share is a pitiful 9.7% and 2.9%, respectively. Both BSNL's topline and subscriber base aren't improving, and the government may have to keep bailing it out unless revenues increase.

Advanced economies that have adopted the 'make it domestic' policy had influenced the developing world to allow market forces to guide the industrialisation process

INSULAR WORLD CHIPPING AWAY AT GLOBALISATION

BISWAJIT DHAR

Professor, Centre for Economic Studies and Planning, School of Social Sciences, JNU

SOUMYADIP SINHA

In this period of hyper-globalisation since the late-1980s, economic downturns have invariably raised questions about the future of globalisation. The questions became more intense following the "Great Recession" of 2008, and the continued impact of this downturn well into the next decade came to be described, perhaps unsurprisingly, as "slowbalisation".

This was so as the underpinnings of the process of globalisation, namely, trade integration, which, in turn, supported the supply chains in some of the more economically dynamic regions such as East Asia, were beginning to look unhinged. Doubts were expressed about the resilience of the supply chains as economic uncertainties disrupted the "just-in-time" deliveries.

There were tell-tale signs that global trade was decelerating. During 2011–19, global export volumes grew discernibly slower at an annual rate of 3% compared to nearly 7% during 2000–07, the immediate pre-depression years.

Individual countries witnessed a more pronounced slowdown in exports. For instance, China's annual export volumes, which were expanding by 24% in the pre-depression years, decelerated to below 5% in the previous decade. In contrast, India's exports, which had expanded at well over 14% annually during 2000–07, grew by less than 5% during 2011–19.

Yet another indication of the partial decoupling of the major economies from the global economy was their sharply falling trade-to-GDP ratios. China, the largest trader, saw a drop in its trade-to-GDP ratio from 57% in 2008 to below 37% during the past decade, while India saw its trade to GDP ratio fall from 53% to 40%.

The post-pandemic recovery had excellent news for global trade as all major economies, for which comparable data are available, experienced significant increases in merchandise trade. Several major economies showed strong recovery of trade-to-GDP ratios, reversing the downward trend seen in the previous decade. The European Union (EU) recorded its highest ever trade to GDP ratio of 94%, while India and China also saw significant increases, reversing their declining trends that began in 2014.

However, it is unclear whether the rebound in trade witnessed in 2021 was because of the stimulus provided by most governments in the aftermath of the pandemic or if it is an indication of a new phase of sustained growth in global trade.

The second possibility seems unlikely, especially because many countries are seemingly inward-oriented after adopting industrial policies. The Reserve Bank of India has recently pointed out that "make it domestic" policies have been adopted by more than 100 countries accounting for 90% of global GDP. These include the advanced economies that had not only debunked industrial policy during the current phase of globalisation, but were also able to influence the governments in the developing world to allow market forces to guide the process of industrialisation. These countries have wholly reversed their antipathy towards industrial policies and embraced them with open arms.

EU member states and the United States began to adopt industrial policy instruments while trying to recover from the 2008 downturn. EU adopted "an integrated industrial policy for the globalisation era" in 2010, which underlined the importance of revival of the manufacturing sector in the EU. The US also emphasised the need for reviving domestic industries

In fact, the EU member states and the United States began to adopt industrial policy instruments while trying to recover from the 2008 downturn. The former adopted "an integrated industrial policy for the globalisation era" in 2010, which underlined the importance of revival of the manufacturing sector in the EU.

The US also emphasised the need for reviving domestic industries as part of the overall strategy for reviving the economy post-2008 financial crisis. The US seemed somewhat wary of announcing adopting the "industrial policy". However, President Barack Obama had signed a number of "Make It in America" legislations to provide direct support to the manufacturing sector to help it grow.

The adverse impact of the Covid-pandemic on supply chains seems to have swung the pendulum towards adopting industrial policy in the US quite decisively. Over the past year, the US Congress passed two legislations with bipartisan support, the "United States Innovation and Competition Act" and "America Creating Opportunities for Manufacturing, Pre-Eminence in Technology, and Economic Strength Act of 2022".

Importantly, the central component of both legislations is "Creating Helpful Incentives to Produce Semiconductors Act" (CHIPS)". It is a $52 billion subsidy programme supporting private enterprises that build semiconductor production facilities in the United States.

Not to be left too far behind, the European Commission proposed a regulation a few months back to establish a framework of measures for strengthening Europe's semiconductor ecosystem, better known as "a Chips Act for Europe". The proposal seeks to mobilise more than 43 billion euros of public and private investments and to adopt measures to "prepare, anticipate and swiftly respond to any future supply chain disruptions".

Over the past three decades, the electronics sector provided momentum to the process of globalisation by establishing extensive supply chains transcending national boundaries. As the Chips Acts in the US and the EU seek to establish domestic semiconductor production by hedging against supply chain disruptions, globalisation's future seems uncertain.

WHAT IS FOR INDIA IN I2U2?

E D MATHEW

Former spokesperson for the United Nations

The moniker I2U2 may sound like some rock band, but it's the latest "minilateralist" group on the global scene, bringing together India, Israel, the United Arab Emirates, and the United States. It refers to the first letters of the four countries' names and is the latest Quad of which India is a member. In the other, older and more established Quad, the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue, India partners with Australia, US and Japan.

The first top-level summit of the new West Asia Quad occurred during US President Joe Biden's visit to Israel in mid-July. President Joe Biden, alongside Israel's caretaker Prime Minister Yair Lapid, virtually met Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Mohammed bin Zayed al Nahyan of UAE.

Although the original Quad aims to promote a "free and open Indo-Pacific", nobody doubts its real purpose—to counterbalance China's growing clout in the region. China calls both the Quad and the AUKUS (Australia, UK, US) "exclusive cliques" and part of the US administration's "ill-intentioned" Indo-Pacific strategy.

Is this West Asia quad too an American move against China, and what benefits can India expect to reap from being part of it?

The new Quad, conceptualised during a meeting of the foreign ministers of the four countries in October last year, is projected as an economic bloc with six focus areas of energy, transportation, water, space, health, and food security. On his first visit to the region, Biden also seemed keen to reassure Middle Eastern leaders of America's commitment to the region and restore partnerships that suffered during the Donald Trump administration.

Biden appears eager to integrate the Middle East and the Indo-Pacific by closing ranks among its partners in both regions. Some analysts view this as yet another move by Washington to contain China's increasing influence in the Middle East. And the 'C' word did emerge during the next leg of Biden's trip.

"We will not walk away [from the Middle East] and leave a vacuum to be filled by China, Russia or Iran," Biden said in Jeddah at a summit of the leaders of the six-member Gulf Cooperation Council plus Egypt, Iraq and Jordan, all autocracies—after bumping fists the previous day with Prince Mohammed bin Salman of Saudi Arabia, a country that he had described as a "pariah" following the assassination of Mohammed Khashoggi. "And we'll seek to build on this moment with active, principled American leadership."

For Israel, I2U2 is another avenue to bolster its opposition to Iran and strengthen the landmark diplomatic pact that it signed with the UAE in 2020, known as the Abraham Accords. The pact led to Israel normalising diplomatic ties with the UAE and two other countries in the region. According to a senior US administration official, Biden's Middle East trip was also to focus on "Israel's increasing integration into the region".

Membership of the I2U2 group suits India in many ways. It's a boost to the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA) signed last February between India and the UAE, which is the highest contributor of Foreign Direct Investment to India from the Gulf region. The CEPA is expected to increase the value of bilateral trade to US$ 100 billion in five years

The group's meeting comes at a time when India-Israel relations are flourishing. The bilateral relationship has seen a vast improvement since Modi became prime minister in 2014, and today, India is Israel's top arms buyer at an estimated annual value of US$1 billion. Some attribute increased ideological proximity too, as critics accuse both governments of similar treatment of Palestinians, minorities, and dissenters.

Membership of the I2U2 group suits India in many ways. It boosts the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA) signed last February between India and the UAE, which is the highest contributor of Foreign Direct Investment to India from the Gulf region. The CEPA is expected to increase the value of bilateral trade to US$ 100 billion in five years. UAE is also home to 35 lakh Indians, roughly a third of the country's population, and a major source of labour.

A collaboration for "integrated food parks" was announced following the summit. India will provide land, and the UAE will invest US$ 2 billion in the project. With expertise from the US and Israeli private sectors, the food parks will help "maximise crop yields which, in turn, will help tackle food insecurity in South Asia and the Middle East", said a joint statement.

Another initiative is a hybrid renewable energy project in Gujarat consisting of 300 megawatts of wind and solar capacity, with investment from the UAE and support from Israel and the US. "Right from the first summit held today, I2U2 has established a positive agenda," said Modi. "Our cooperative framework is also a good model for practical cooperation in the face of increasing global uncertainties," he added.

I2U2 is a winner for India at the diplomatic level too. It opens a window for India to play a greater global role with an enhanced profile in West Asia. It provides a new avenue to expand its cooperation with Washington beyond the Indo-Pacific without sacrificing New Delhi's strategic autonomy. It could also deepen ties with the Middle East, a strategically important region due to India's energy and economic interests.

A likely spoiler at the diplomatic level could be if Israel tries to use the I2U2 platform to advance its anti-Iran agenda. That'll be a headache for New Delhi, considering India's long-standing and traditional relationship with Iran.

Smriti vs Sonia

What Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury said about President Droupadi Murmu was absolutely sexist and uncalled for. But Smriti Irani's conflict with Sonia Gandhi in the Lok Sabha was an ugly incident. Involving Sonia Gandhi in the issue is unwarranted. What would Congress gain out of insulting the president? The dignity and credibility of the House cannot be compromised like this.

United by chess

The inauguration of the 44th Chess Olympiad in Chennai has received praise from the entire country. The wonderful display of events in such a short span of time has also garnered global attention. Politicians set aside their differences and came together to attend the game, which is remarkable in many ways, given the current context. With India successfully hosting the event, it adds to the credibility. Hopefully, India will have more opportunities like this.

Where's the mayor?

When any international game or sport takes place, especially something as major as the 44th Chess Olympiad, prominent people in the city attend the event. However, I was surprised to notice that the mayor of Chennai was missing. Can anyone answer why? I wish the mayor was also given due importance.

Kerala's poor finances

Your editorial Kerala govt's perilous politics of populism (July 29) is both timely and commendable. The lion's share of the state exchequer goes to salary, pension and repayment of interest. To save the state from a financial crisis, the government should desist from giving free kits during Onam costing ₹425 crores or at least limit it to those below the poverty line.

The DMK-led TN government deserves praise for the CM Breakfast Scheme in 1,545 primary schools across the State which will benefit over 1.14 lakh children. Apropos of Mobile phone menace on the rise in schools, govt plans to tighten curbs (July 29). It is good that the Kerala government is taking the initiative to tackle mobile phone usage in schools. It shows that they are vigilant. I am sure the plan will help students focus on their academics.

Can't disclose Chinese casualties at Galwan: CIC

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE casualty figure of the Chinese soldiers in Galwan Valley clash two years back between Chinese People's Liberation Army troops and the Indian Army can't be disclosed, held the Central Information Commission (CIC). In its recent order, the CIC declined to allow a plea seeking to know "the casualties to the Chinese forces, if any, by brave soldiers of the country" inflicted during the clashes between two forces on June 15, 2020.

The CIC is the highest appellate body under the Right to Information (RTI) Act.

The RTI filed by applicant Akhand had sought information about the casualty suffered by Indian soldiers in Galwan, one of the multiple standoff points where the Chinese moved in their forces after a clash between the troops of both sides on May 5, 2020. The area is near the Line of Actual Control in Eastern Ladakh. The applicant also sought to know from the Army if Indian soldiers are missing in Galwan.

The Army refused to disclose the information as it was third-party information and it cannot be shared under Section 8(1) (j) of the Act, which exempts from disclosure the information which is personal in nature. The Army also cited Section 8(1)(a) of the RTI Act, which exempts from disclosure of the information which would prejudicially affect the sovereignty and integrity of India, the security, strategic, scientific or economic interests of the State, relation with foreign state or lead to incitement of an offence.

The applicant argued before the CIC that the matter involves larger public interest.

Information Commissioner Vanaja N Sarna said, "It is noted that a proper reply was given to the appellant whereby it was rightly stated that since the information is related to third parties, the information cannot be provided under section 8(1)(j) of the RTI Act."

"It was also stated that the information being sensitive in nature cannot be provided under section 8(1)(a) of the RTI Act. The Commission is unable to find any flaw in the reply, hence, no relief can be given," Sarna said.

MEDICAL STUDENTS

CHINA, UKRAINE RETURNEES GET 1 CHANCE

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

IN a significant relief, final year medical students, who returned to India due to Covid-19 and Ukraine war and got degrees from their institutes on or before June 30, 2022, will be allowed for Foreign Medical Graduate (FMG) exam, National Medical Commission (NMC) announced.

This means these students have been exempted from taking the final year exam - a must-have criteria earlier to take FMG exam. After clearing the FMG exam, students were allowed a one-year internship.

Apart from those who returned from Ukraine, the move will also help students who returned from China due to COVID-19.

According to the public notice issued by NMC, upon qualifying for the FMG exam, they will be required to undergo a Compulsory Rotating Medical Internship (CRMI) for two years instead of the current one year. The foreign medical graduates will be eligible to get registration only after completing the two-year CRMI; adding the relaxation granted to the foreign medical students is a "one-time measure" and shall not be treated as "precedence in the future".

"In pursuance to the order passed by the Supreme Court on April 29, it is informed that the Indian students who were in the last year of their undergraduate medicine course (had to leave their foreign medical institute and return to India due to COVID-19, Russia -Ukraine war etc.) and have subsequently completed their studies as also have been granted a certificate of completion of the course by their respective institute, on or before June 30, 2022, shall be permitted to appear in FMG exam," the notice said.

"After that, upon qualifying for the FMG examination, such foreign medical graduates are required to undergo Compulsory Rotating Medical Internship (CRMI) for two years to make up for the clinical training which could not be physically attended by them during the undergraduate medicine course in the foreign institute as also to familiarise them with the practice of medicine under Indian conditions," the notice said.

As thousands of students from India studying in various medical colleges across Ukraine had to abandon their courses and return home after Russian forces launched an offensive against Ukraine, their fate was uncertain. However, NMC and the centre had asserted that they couldn't be accommodated in an Indian medical colleges. The Indian government evacuated around 20,000 medical students.

Lok Sabha likely to discuss it on Monday while, Rajya Sabha may take it up on Tuesday

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

AFTER two weeks of repeated disruptions in both the Houses of Parliament over Opposition's demand for a discussion on price rise and levying of the GST on essential items, the Government has agreed to hold it next week.

The Lok Sabha is expected to take up discussion on Monday while Rajya Sabha may take up on Tuesday. Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman will reply to the discussion in both the Houses.

The allotment of time for discussion will be taken up during the business advisory committee meeting of both the houses.

The monsoon session of Parliament has seen repeated adjournments with the Opposition pushing the government to suspend all business to take up the issues. The Opposition MPs have been holding protests inside the House and 27 of them — 23 from Rajya Sabha and 4 from Lok Sabha — were suspended for unruly bahaviour for displaying placards in the House.

Both Houses of Parliament have failed to transact any significant business in the wake of continued protests by the opposition over demands for an urgent discussion on price rise and GST while setting aside all other business.

The Rajya Sabha proceedings on Friday were adjourned after uproarious scenes created by both the Opposition and treasury benches over different issues. While the Opposition parties pressed for a discussion on the hooch tragedy in Gujarat and rise in prices of essential commodities, BJP MPs were up shouted slogans seeking Congress president Sonia Gandhi's apology over Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury remarks on the President.

The Lok Sabha was adjourned till 12 noon and later for the day within minutes of commencement of proceedings due to the Opposition protests as Opposition members came to the well of the House raising slogans against the government.

BJP women members, who were standing in the second row of the treasury benches, too stood up and raised counter slogans.

Under attack for his "Rashtrapatni" comment, Chowdhury on Friday said that the Centre owed Congress president Sonia Gandhi an apology for the way they targeted her in Parliament on Thursday and he had already apologised and was ready to do so in the House, provided he is allowed to speak.

"The way Sonia Gandhi was targeted in the Parliament on Thursday... the government must issue an apology. I am at the centre of this controversy. But the BJP is attacking Sonia Gandhi," he said.

NEW DELHI: India is witnessing a rise in the pendency of cases in various courts sharply moving towards touching the point of 5 crore, despite efforts being made to expedite the disposals of cases at all levels, Union law minister Kiren Rijiju said in the Lok Sabha on Friday. Rijiju said that 72,062 cases are pending in the Supreme Court as on July 1 this year, while 59,55,873 cases are pending in the 25 high courts till July 25 of the current year. The most stunning fact is that the pendency is higher in the district and subordinate courts with over 4.23 crore cases waiting to be disposed off across the country. If all figures are cumulatively taken, this goes to mean that a total of over 4.83 crore cases are pending across various courts. ENS

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

MAHARASHTRA topped among states in utilising the services of 'Kisan rail', started by the railways in 2020 for providing swift and safe transportation of perishable agricultural products from farmers to metro-markets in different parts of the country.

Since the first Kisan rail's inauguration on August 7, 2020 between Maharashtra's Devlali and Bihar's Danapur, the railways has operated more than 2,300 trips across the country.

As per information provided by Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw to Parliament recently, the railways operated 2,359 Kisan rail trips, originating from Assam, Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab, Rajasthan, Telangana, Tripura, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal from 2020 to June 30, 2022.

"Utilising these trips, approximately 7.9 lakh tonnes of agriculture and dairy perishables such as fruits, vegetables and others were transported, providing markets to farmers cultivating several perishables — banana, onion, potato, garlic, mango, grapes, pomegranate, oranges, cauliflower and others," said the Railway Ministry in its reply. Assam: HC seeks govt report on encounter cases

Court asks state government to file detailed report within 6 weeks

NUMBER OF POLICE ENCOUNTER DEATHS DURING 2021-22

Source: Union Ministry of Home Affairs

THE Gauhati High Court on Friday directed the Assam government to file a detailed and updated report within six weeks on investigation into every case of recent police encounter.

The high court's directive came after Delhi-based activist and lawyer Arif Jwadder filed a petition seeking a probe into the encounter cases by the Central Bureau of Investigation, special investigation team or any police team from another state under the court's supervision.

Appearing for the petitioner virtually from Delhi, civil rights lawyer and activist Prashant Bhushan argued that the police had not followed the law as laid down in the People's Union of Civil Liberties (PUCL) Vs State of Maharashtra & ors guidelines by the Supreme Court in alleged fake encounter cases.

He claimed that there was no independent inquiry in any of the cases as per the apex court's guidelines and insisted that the police follow the PUCL guidelines in the injury cases during encounters.

The High Court was informed that altogether 161 incidents of police action had taken place across Assam in the past 13 months under Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma-led government, the petitioner said.

He said the incidents caused the deaths of 51 accused persons and injuries to 139 others until May 21 this year. Subsequently, he added, the death toll went up to 54 as mentioned by the state government in an affidavit submitted to the court. Sarma took over as the CM on May 10 last year.

The petitioner submitted that the persons who died or were injured were not militants. "It cannot be the case that all the accused (persons) could snatch a service revolver from a trained police officer," he argued.

In many of the cases, the police said they had to open fire on the person in their custody as he attempted to flee after snatching their firearm.

Assam recorded the third highest number of police encounter deaths during 2021-22, according to the Union Ministry of Home Affairs. Jammu and Kashmir topped the chart with 45 deaths, followed by Chhattisgarh (30), Assam (18) and Uttar Pradesh (11).

EDUCATION

All state-run schools to be co-educational

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Guwahati

ALL state-run schools in Assam will soon be made co-educational institutes. The idea is to promote gender equality and ensure that girls find a school at their doorsteps.

"From now on, there won't be any boys or girls-specific government schools in Assam. We are doing this to promote gender equality," Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said on Friday. He left it to the heritage girls' schools to decide whether to join this system or not.

He highlighted the hardship being faced by girls due to the lack of co-ed schools. "As girls do not get admission in boys' schools in Guwahati, a lot of them are forced to travel a long distance to study in a girls' school," the CM said.

The state government also decided to introduce dual medium of instruction (English and Assamese) for classes 6-12 in the state-run schools.

"To begin with, we want to have 10 such schools in every district," Sarma said, adding that maths and science classes will be held in English from Class 3 in all state-run schools.

11 schoolboys held, 24 detained for UP bomb blasts

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

PRAYAGRAJ police have arrested 11 students and detained 24 others since Tuesday in connection with a series of crude bomb blasts in the city in the last three months. Of the total 35 boys taken into custody so far, 27 are minors and rest eight are above 18 years of age and have completed their Class 12th.

Of the 11 students arrested on Tuesday, 10, being minors, were produced before the Juvenile Justice Board and sent to a juvenile home. The 11th accused, who is 18, was produced before a local court, which sent him to jail, said a police officer.

A probe into at least six low-intensity bomb blasts since May led the police to unravel a turf war among the students of at least three reputed convent schools.

The first bombing took place in May in Civil Lines area. Similar incidents were reported on July 4, 15, 16, 22 and 25 outside some schools.

The students, who are all from well-off families, are said to be members of 'gangs' formed through social media, which has names like Tandav, Jaguar, Tiger, Immortal, Rangbaz and Maya. "They were in a race to prove their supremacy in their 'areas'. Hurling bombs at the gate of rival schools was their way of doing so," said Rakesh Singh, IGP, Prayagraj Range.

According to sources, these students formed the groups when schools were functioning online during the pandemic. "They also used to indulge in physical fights, and glamourise the incidents on social media," said Shailesh Pandey, SSP, Prayagraj.

The students used to procure material from local market to make crude bombs, which they learnt by watching videos online.

The police has prepared a list of students whose role has been established. The list will be handed over to the respective schools.

Twin slip-ups turn embarrassing for govt

Slip ups by State Home Minister Narottam Mishra at least on two occasions proved embarrassing for the Shivraj Singh Chouhan government earlier this month. On July 18, Mishra, while briefing journalists on a Maharashtra State Roadways bus plunging in Narmada, said 15 passengers were rescued, which was contrary to Indore Rural IG's information about none survivors. Realising the gaffe, the minister corrected the facts a few hours later in Bhopal. Just a few days before it, Mishra had hastily told the media that BJP swept the municipal polls in Digvijaya Singh's home town Raghogarh. The reality was different, as municipal polls weren't held in Raghogarh and the minister had mistaken Rajgarh as Raghogarh, possibly in haste to belittle the ex-CM.

MP too might drop chapters on Mughals

Three months after CBSE dropped from the Class XI and XII's political science syllabi some chapters, including the rise of Islamic empires in Afro-Asian territories and the chronicles of Mughal courts, the Shivraj Singh Chouhan government too seems to be thinking on similar lines. Recently, MP Home Minister Narottam Mishra, while welcoming the CBSE's move, said Mughal invaders cannot be heroes for our students. "The MP government too will review the presence of chapters on them in the syllabus of the state board," Mishra said. Recently, similar statement was made by state's School Education Minister Inder Singh Parmar, who said, "We want to teach our children nationalism and not slavery."

Tribal woman stumbles upon ₹20 lakh diamond

Urgency to collect firewood in jungles led a poor tribal woman in Panna district to a piece of diamond worth around ₹20 lakh. Genda Devi was collecting wood in Purshottampur area, when she spotted a shining stone and brought it home along with the firewood. Two days later, when the tribal family went with the stone to the Diamond Office in Panna, they were told that it wasn't a stone, but a piece of diamond which would be worth lakhs. The diamond has been deposited at the office and will be put up for auction. The tribal family will get the auction proceeds after deduction of 12 per cent royalty and 1 per cent tax.

Adhir sends apology letter to President

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

CONGRESS Lok Sabha MP Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury on Friday tendered a written apology to President Droupadi Murmu for referring to her as 'Rashtrapatni' during a media interaction on Wednesday.

"I am writing to express my regret for having mistakenly used an incorrect word to describe the position you hold. I assure you that it was a slip of the tongue. I apologise and request you to accept the same," he said in his letter.

Chowdhury's remark had kicked off a political storm with BJP MPs demanding he as well as Congress chief Sonia Gandhi apologise. The Congress MP, however, claimed he never intended any disrespect to the President. "I inadvertently used the word 'Rashtrapatni' just once and it was a slip of the tongue. I never meant any disrespect to the president. What should I do? I said it and realised I uttered a wrong word," he told reporters.

The matter had turned into a face-off between Sonia Gandhi and Union minister Smriti Irani on Thursday when the former questioned why she was being targeted.

Meanwhile, the Centre on Friday said it was ready to discuss the issues of price rise and GST on essentials next week. Both Houses of Parliament had been paralysed for almost two weeks with Opposition demanding urgent discussion.

Delhi AAP govt blinks, scraps its liquor policy

SHAHID FARIDI @New Delhi

THE AAP government in Delhi on Friday scrapped its New Excise Policy 2021-22 following multiple enquiries, including those by the CBI and Economic Offences Wing of Delhi Police, into charges of "undue financial favours to liquor licensees" and other "major decisions/ actions in violation of statutory provisions... that had huge financial implications."

The old liquor policy is likely to be back in force from August 1, 2022, sources said.

This newspaper was the first to report that the city government's liquor policy "extended wrongful gains and favours to liquor wholesalers in Delhi... at the cost of state's revenue."

In a letter marked "Topmost Priority" to the state's excise commissioner Krishna Mohan Uppu, Delhi finance secretary Ashish Chandra Verma on Friday said: "Reference is invited to the directions of Hon'ble Dy CM dated 28.07.2022 vide which it has, inter alia, been directed to revert to old regime of excise policy for a period of 6 months till a fresh Excise Policy is in place."

The letter further said, "considering that the timelines are very short, you, while taking other necessary actions in the matter, may coordinate immediately with the heads of the DSIIDC, DTTDC, DCCWS, DSCSC (all PSUs) to get the following information prepared latest by end of today (i.e., 29.09.2022) in the following format separately for all such four organizations."

The information sought from the excise commissioner includes the name of old vend and its location, staff deployed in the previous regime, whether the premises where the vend was located were rented or owned by the public sector undertaking, and whether the premises were still vacant or occupied. Copies of the finance minister's letter have also been sent to the heads of the four PSUs, which were earlier engaged in running the liquor vends.

The Delhi government had implemented a new excise policy on November 15, 2021 that withdrew the four PSUs from the liquor business and handed over the entire trade over to the private sector. Friday's order rollded it back and directed the excise commissioner to bring back the PSUs into the liquor trade.

VICTIM OF CONSPIRACY, SAYS PARTHA; ARPITA SHEDS TEARS

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

A day after being axed from the Mamata Banerjee cabinet, suspended Trinamool Congress heavyweight Partha Chatterjee on Friday said he was a victim of conspiracy. He, however, did not explain who hatched the conspiracy.

While being taken to ESI Hospital, Joka, for medical check-up by the Enforcement Directorate (ED), Chatterjee said, "I am a victim of conspiracy." Asked about Mamata's decision to remove him from the cabinet, Chatterjee said, "The decision is right."

However, Mamata's once trusted lieutenant made it clear that he was not happy with the party's decision of axing him from all posts. "Time will tell," he said when asked about his suspension announced by Abhishek Banerjee on Thursday.

The TMC preferred to maintain distance from Chatterjee since his arrest and Thursday's decision to sack him from the cabinet and party hierarchy was a clear message of disowning the former third-in-command in the party.

Chatterjee's close aide Arpita Mukherjee, from whose apartments cash ₹49.80 crore was recovered, broke down into tears while being taken for medical check-up on Friday. She was reluctant to get down from the vehicle. CISF personnel had to drag her out and took her inside the hospital on a wheelchair for medical test.

The ED is looking for three vehicles — an Audi, a Mercedes and a Honda City. The luxury cars used to be parked in Arpita's south Kolkata housing complex.

The Audi and Honda City were in the name of Arpita, while the Mercedes was in the name of a real estate company, which has an office near Chatterjee's residence — ED official

"The Audi and Honda City were in the name of Arpita, while the Mercedes was in the name of a real estate company, which has an office near Chatterjee's Naktala residence in south Kolkata. We suspect proceeds of crime of the alleged recruitment scam was invested in the real estate company," said an ED official.

The ED started questioning both Chatterjee and Arpita placing the list of properties, both movable and immovable, in front of them.

"Several flats, lands, resorts, houses and guesthouses are under our scanner as we are probing the source of fund," said the official.

Film director Aparna Sen, who became the face of Bengal's intelligentsia which staged protests against the Nandigram firing during the Left Front government, tweeted: "Let's not forget that 50 crore recovered from erstwhile state minister Partha Chatterjee was acquired by exploiting by the poor of WB. TMC have tried to save face by throwing PC out of the cabinet. That doesn't wash! They money should be used for the benefit those that have been robbed!"

Dogs to dig out hidden mobiles in Punjab jails

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

PRISONERS who smuggle in mobile phones inside jails now beware. Dogs of Belgian Malinois breed will be used to sniff out hidden phones in the prisons of Punjab. Prison authorities in the US, Canada and European countries deploy these specially-trained canines who can detect the hidden phones with the smell of the batteries. In India, this is perhaps the first time that dogs will dig out phones in prison cells.

Newton Sidhu, director of Punjab Home Guards Canine Training and Breeding Institute at Dera Bassi, told this newspaper, "The Punjab prisons department is planning to buy dogs and deploy them in all the jails across the state. On a trial basis, we have already deployed four dogs at Ludhiana Central Jail and now we will be deploying them at Amritsar Central Jail."

The Belgian Malinois dogs are brought from the Netherlands & Poland | EXPRESS

The Belgian Malinois dogs are imported from the Netherlands and Poland. "The inmates usually hide the phones underground beneath the concrete or other flooring in jails wrapped in empty milk or other plastic packets," said Sidhu.

It takes around four months to train this breed to sniff out the mobile phones and costs ₹3 lakh. "We have called trainers from the US to train these dogs. Our training methodology is a food reward programme which was developed by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the US. Under this programme, the dog is given his food only when it finds something (article)," Sidhu said.

He added that the Begian Malinois dogs are huge, aggressive and can work for long hours — about eight hours — at a stretch. They come from cold countries but can adjust as per environment.

"The Assam Rifles are taking this breed from us for explosives detection and Kerela Police for finding narcotics and explosives. Sikkim, Manipur, J&K Police forces have also taken this breed for explosives detection," he said. Sidhu said the Army, too is planning to buy the Belgian Malinois pups from the institute and will train them itself.

2,600 MOBILES SEIZED IN JAILS THIS YEAR SO FAR

Nearly 2,600 mobile phones have been recovered from various jails of Punjab this year so far. The state prison department is learnt to have issued an advisory to superintendents asking them to conduct frequent searches, especially in jails where high-risk prisoners, gangsters and smugglers are lodged. They have been told that they would be held responsible if any incident of cellphone use inside jails comes to light.

Chhattisgarh to procure cow urine at ₹4 per litre

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

Chhattisgarh has become the first state in the country to have launched procurement of cow urine on the occasion of popular local festival, 'Hareli Tihaar'.

Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel inaugurated the initiative by selling five litres of cow urine to a women self-help group, Nidhi, at Chandkhuri near Raipur. The price for cow urine has been fixed at ₹4 per litre.

Chhattisgarh was also the first state to procure cow dung when it launched the 'Gaudhan Nyay Yojana' in July 2020. The government has decided to expand the scope of the scheme and incorporated cow urine.

"Considering the positive impacts of Gaudhan Nyay Yojana, many states are adopting the scheme. Over ₹300 crore has been disbursed to the accounts of cow-dung vendors, Gauthan committees and SHGs in the last two years," the CM said.

Gaumutra is being procured to promote animal husbandry and organic farming, while cow dung is to produce organic manure. Now gaumutra at cattle-sheds will be utilised to prepare organic insecticides.

The move is likely to promote organic farming and bring down the input cost, according to officials. "Agricultural scientists believe that cow urine is a better and cheaper alternative to insecticides and chemical pesticides. Its disease resistance capacity remains much higher," the officials added.

Blame game: 53 Ukraine POWs killed

Kremlin officials claim Kyiv's attack on prison resulted in the deaths

KYIV

RUSSIA and Ukraine accused each other Friday of shelling a prison in a separatist region of eastern Ukraine, an attack that reportedly killed dozens of Ukrainian prisoners of war who were captured after the fall of a key southern city in May. Both sides said the assault was premeditated with the aim of covering up atrocities.

Russia claimed that Ukraine's military used US-supplied multiple rocket launchers to strike the prison in Olenivka, a settlement controlled by the Moscow-backed Donetsk People's Republic. Separatist authorities and Russian officials said the attack killed 53 Ukrainian POWs and wounded 75.

Moscow opened a probe into the attack, sending a team to the site from Russia's Investigative Committee. The state RIA Novosti agency reported that fragments of US-supplied precision High Mobility Artillery Rocket System rockets were found at the site.

The Ukrainian military denied making any rocket or artillery strikes in Olenivka, and accused the Russians of shelling the prison to cover up the alleged torture of Ukrainians there. An adviser to Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy described the shelling as a deliberate, cynical, calculated mass murder of Ukrainian prisoners.

Neither claim could be independently verified. Denis Pushilin, the leader of the internationally unrecognised Donetsk republic, said the prison held 193 inmates. He didn't specify how many were Ukrainian POWs.

The deputy commander of the Donetsk separatist forces, Eduard Basurin, suggested that Ukraine decided to strike the prison to prevent captives from revealing key military information.

Ukraine knew exactly where they were being held and in what place, he said. "After the Ukrainian prisoners of war began to talk about the crimes they committed...a decision was made by the political leadership of Ukraine: carry out a strike here."

Ukrainian presidential adviser Mykhailo Podolyak called for a strict investigation into the deadly attack and urged the United Nations and other international organisations to condemn it. He said the Russians had transferred some Ukrainian prisoners to the barrack that was hit just a few days before the strike, suggesting that it was planned. AP

ZELENSKYY VISITS PORT AS IT PREPARES TO SHIP OUT GRAIN

ODESA

UKRAINIAN President Volodymyr Zelenskyy visited a Black Sea port as crews prepared terminals to export grain.

"The first vessel, the first ship is being loaded since the beginning of the war," Zelenskyy said at a port in the Odesa region.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov on Friday emphasised the importance of maintaining a link between taking grain out of Ukrainian ports and unblocking direct or indirect restrictions on the export of our grain, fertilisers and other goods to global markets.

"We are ready," Ukraine's minister of infrastructure, Oleksandr Kubrakov, told reporters. But he said Ukraine is waiting on the UN to confirm the safe corridors that will be used by ships navigating the waters. For ships heading to Ukraine's three ports, smaller Ukrainian pilot boats will guide the vessels through approved corridors.

Once ships reach port, they will be loaded with grains before departing back to the Bosphorus Strait, where they will inspected for weapons. There will likely be inspections for ships embarking to Ukraine as well. AP

Finalists grilled at first hustings; Sunak accused of back-stabbing Boris

LONDON

RISHI Sunak and Liz Truss, the two finalists in the race to succeed Boris Johnson as the Conservative Party leader and British Prime Minister, were grilled on their policies in the first hustings directly addressing Tory party members who will be voting in the election.

While the economy and cost-of-living crises were the focal point as in earlier television debates, there were wider questions at the hustings in Leeds in Yorkshire, northern England, from the membership reflecting their loyalty to Johnson.

In a dramatic moment, a Tory member questioned Sunak's decision to quit as Chancellor earlier this month and accused the former minister of back-stabbing his former boss.

"You're a good salesman...but many people continue to support Johnson who has delivered consistently through treacherous waters," one Tory audience member from West Yorkshire said to Sunak.

"Many people unfortunately see that you've stabbed him in the back. He is the man who made you a senior politician. And some people don't want to see that in No. 10," he said.

Sunak responded by saying he was left with no choice after it had become clear that there was a significant difference of opinion between the pair on the economic direction of the country.

Sunak, who is trailing behind Truss, pitched himself as the underdog who hasn't taken the easy road with his plans to hold off on large tax cuts.

Sunak did receive applause at points during the session, including for his tough stance on immigration as one of the issues he wants to grip as quickly as possible as the prime minister with a 10-point plan.

The next hustings, being organised by the Conservative Campaign Headquarters (CCHQ) ahead of postal ballots being mailed out to members from next week, is scheduled for Exeter in southwest England on Monday. PTI

Pak's first Hindu woman DSP to work for gender equality

KARACHI

BEATING all odds and rising to become Pakistan's first Hindu woman Deputy Superintendent of Police, Manisha Ropeta is thrilled to have proven wrong her relatives and is looking forward to take on new challenges: to be a women protector by leading a feminism drive and encourage gender equality in a patriarchal society.

Ropeta, 26, who is from Jacobabad in interior Sindh province, believes women are the target of many crimes and are the most oppressed people in male-dominated Pakistan.

Ropeta cleared the Sindh Public Service Commission examination last year. She is undergoing training and will be posted as the Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) in the crime-infested area of Lyari.

"From childhood, I and my sisters have seen the same old system of patriarchy where girls are told if they want to get educated and work it can only be as teachers or doctors," she said.

Belonging to a middle-class family, Ropeta says she wants to end the notion that girls from good families should refrain from joining the police service or working in district courts.

Physical and sexual violence, honour killings and forced marriages make Pakistan one of the worst countries for women. The Global Gender Gap Index of the World Economic Forum, had ranked Pakistan third from the bottom a couple of years ago. Pakistan was ranked 151 out of 153 countries.

According to another report by the Aurat Foundation, a Pakistani NGO working for rights of women, almost 70% of women in the country have been victims of domestic violence, at least once in their lives. This violence is generally committed by their husbands.

Ropeta feels her working as a senior police officer will empower women and give them authority.

"I want to lead a feminism drive and encourage gender equality in the police force. I myself have always been very inspired and attracted to the role of the police force," she said.

Ropeta is hopeful of playing a big role in portraying a better image of the police whom many people still do not trust.

Before Manisha Ropeta, Pushpa Kumari from Umerkot district had passed her examination and joined Sindh Police as the first Hindu assistant sub-inspector. PTI

Now, Russia backs China on Taiwan

MOSCOW

THE Kremlin on Friday offered strong support to China amid the tensions over Taiwan, warning the United States against any provocative moves that could exacerbate the situation.

Chinese President Xi Jinping warned against meddling in China's dealings with Taiwan during a phone call with US President Joe Biden.

Speaking in a call with reporters, Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said that Russia staunchly supports China's sovereignty and territorial integrity.

"We believe that no other country has the right to call (that) into doubt or take any provocative steps," Peskov said.

He warned the US against destructive moves, adding that such behavior on the international arena could only exacerbate tensions as the world is already overloaded with regional and global problems.

The tough statement reflects close ties between Moscow and Beijing, which have grown stronger since Russia sent its troops into Ukraine.

China has refused to criticise Russia's action, blaming the US and NATO for provoking Moscow. AP

$12 mn relief to Chinese victims of terror attack

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN has decided to pay over $11.5 million in compensation to 36 Chinese nationals working on a major hydropower project who either died or were injured in a terrorist attack in the restive Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Province last year.

The decision on the quantum of compensation to be paid was taken at a meeting of the Economic Coordination Committee of the Cabinet.

The committee approved tenders for 200,000 tonnes of wheat at about $408 a tonne and allowed $11.6 million goodwill compensation for the Chinese casualties at the Dasu hydropower project in July last year, the Dawn newspaper reported on Friday.

On July 13 last year, 10 Chinese nationals, mostly engineers, were killed and 26 others were seriously injured after a suicide attack on a bus that was ferrying them to the Dasu Hydropower Project in Kohistan district of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province. The Chinese were livid after the attack. PTI

Centre's infra spends up 57% in April-June

Capex in the first quarter was ₹1.75 lakh crore compared to ₹1.11 lakh crore in the same quarter the previous fiscal

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

CENTRAL government's infrastructure spending has seen a sharp jump in the first quarter of the current fiscal as capital expenditure during the quarter reached ₹1.75 lakh crore, a 57% jump over the previous year.

In the same quarter last year, the capex incurred by the government stood at ₹1.11 lakh crore. For the current fiscal ending March 31, 2023, the government has earmarked ₹7.5 lakh crore for capex, 27% more than last fiscal.

"Ind-Ra believes that the sustained double-digit growth in capex will help the economy at a time when the private investment is in wait-and-watch mode due to the monetary tightening across the globe and the uncertainty created by the Russia-Ukraine conflict," said Dr. Sunil Kumar Sinha, Principal Economist, India Ratings and Research.

"For a strong and durable economic recovery, it is pertinent the government sustains its capex in the remaining months of FY23. This is an expected nudge the states (which account for over three-fifths of the general government capex) as well to chip in and front load their capex targets for FY23," Sinha further stated. Compared to the sharp jump in capex, revenue expenditure during the quarter saw a moderate 8.5% rise. Net tax collection during the quarter grew 23% to ₹5.06 lakh crore compared to ₹4.12 lakh crore.

Meanwhile, fiscal deficit in the first quarter breached ₹3.5 lakh crore, 21.2% of the full year target. In the previous year during the same quarter, fiscal deficit was at ₹2.74 lakh crore.

The Centre has set a target for fiscal deficit at ₹16.6 lakh crore or 6.4% of the gross domestic product (GDP) for the current fiscal. It was at 6.7% in the last fiscal.

As per the Controller General of Accounts (CGA) data, in April-June quarter, Centre's total expenditure stood at ₹9.48 lakh crore, 24% of the budgeted estimates (BE) for FY23.

If compared with last year, it was at 23.6% in the year-ago period.

This is an expected nudge the states (which account for three-fifths of the general govt capex) as well to chip in and front load their capex targets for FY23 —Sunil Kumar Sinha, Principal Economist, India Ratings

June core sector output increases by 12.7%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ NewDelhi

INDIA'S core sector output registered a double-digit growth for the second straight month in June at 12.7%. However, sequentially decline it was lower than may growth, as it was at 19.3%, the government data released on Friday showed.

The eight core industries include electricity, coal, crude oil, natural gas, refinery products and fertilizers. Coal, petroleum, cement and electricity rose in double digits. Coal production increased by 31.1% in June 2022 over last year in the same month. However, crude oil production fell by 1.7% in June 2022 year-on-year basis. Quarter-wise, the core sector growth was only 13.7% in April-June as compared with 26% in the same quarter of previous year.

"As expected, the core sector growth reported a fairly broad-based moderation to 12.7% in June 2022 from 19.3% in the previous month, reflecting the normalising base, while mildly exceeding our forecast of 11-12%," Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist at ICRA said. "Coal, cement, refinery products and electricity generation demonstrated double digit growth in June 2022, whereas the rise in steel and natural gas was quite muted," Nayar added. "In line with the moderation in the year-on-year performance registered by the most high frequency indicators as well as the core sector in June 2022, we expect the IIP growth to ease to ~11-13% in that month," Nayar further stated.

TAIWAN

Q2 GDP GROWS AT SLOWEST IN TWO YEARS ON CHINA LOCKDOWNS, COVID

Taiwan's economy grew at its slowest pace in two years in the second quarter and performed slightly worse than expected, hit by supply chain woes and a surge in domestic COVID cases, with the outlook for exports clouded by signs of a global slowdown. For the April-June period, annual gross domestic product(GDP) grew by 3.08% from the same period a year earlier, compared with 3.14% for the previous quarter, preliminary data from the statistics agency showed on Friday. That was below an increase of 3.1% forecast in a Reuters poll, and the slowest pace since eking out 0.63% growth in the second quarter of 2020 when the pandemic began to race around the world. Compared to the previous quarter, the economy contracted 2.93% on a seasonally adjusted annual rate. As a key hub in the global technology supply chain for giants such as Apple Inc, Taiwan's economy has outperformed many regional peers during the COVID-19 pandemic, benefiting from robust demand for tech exports as more people have turned to working and studying from home.

PHILIPPINES

CENTRAL BANK SEES 2023 INFLATION BACK WITHIN 2%-4% TARGET

The Philippine central bank expects inflation to fall back to within its 2%-4% target band next year, from a projected average of 5% this year, its governor said on Friday, reiterating that further interest rate hikes this year are possible. Speaking at a business forum, Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) chief Felipe Medalla said the BSP was set to lower its average inflation forecast for 2023 from 4.2%. He did not specify a figure. Medalla said on Thursday the BSP was ready to use the "full force" of monetary policy measures to combat inflation and support the peso currency after the U.S. Federal Reserve hiked rates further this week by 75 basis points. Earlier this week, Medalla also signalled the prospect of a rate hike at its Aug. 18 meeting, but possibly not by as much as 75 basis points. "Maybe, depending on the data, (there will be) more policy rate adjustments even before the end of the year," he said on Friday at a forum organised by the Manila Times newspaper. "Of course it's also possible not to have them because the data may go one way or the other."

JAPAN

YEN SET FOR BIGGEST WEEKLY GAIN IN 4 MONTHS ON PEAK U.S. RATE BETS

Japan's yen surged on Friday and is on track for its biggest weekly rise in four months against the dollar on bets that U.S. interest rates are nearing a peak after data showed the world's biggest economy unexpectedly contracted in the June quarter. Futures markets predict that U.S. interest rates will peak by December this year compared with June 2023 at the start of July and the Federal Reserve will cut interest rates by 50 bps next year to support slowing growth. The upshot of this rapid drop in rate rise expectations has been a big driver for the dollar's weakness against the yen with the greenback slumping nearly 2.5% versus the Japanese unit this week, its biggest weekly drop since late March. Against the dollar, the yen climbed 0.8% on Friday to 133.17 yen to its highest levels since mid-June. The yen was the primary short of the widening interest rate differential trade between the United States and its global peers with short yen bets, despite a recent pull back, above historical averages at $5.4 billion.

71% of 5G spectrum sold so far, bidding to resume on Saturday

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ NewDelhi

BY the end of fourth day of 5G auction on Friday, the government received bids for 71% of the spectrum on the block worth about ₹1,49,855 crore.

Continued interest for radiowaves stretched the bidding for fifth day (Saturday) after the 23rd round of bidding ended on Friday.

It added ₹232 crore to its kitty on the fourth day of the auction. The reason behind stretching the auction for the entire week is fight for the 1800 MHz in UP (East). "The Union government has received bids worth ₹1,49,855 crore for about 71% of the spectrum in four days of auction," said telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw.

Industry experts believe the sale is likely to be over by Monday. The previous record of government collection from spectrum auctions was ₹1.09 lakh crore in 2015.

India's largest telecom operator Reliance Jio has made a ₹14,000 crore earnest money deposit (EMD), Bharti Airtel has put in ₹5,500 crore and debt-laden Vodafone Idea has made ₹2,200 crore. Interestingly, cash-rich Gautam Adani-led Adani Data Network put in ₹100 crore. The EMD indicates the maximum quantity of airwaves a company can bid for in the auction, usually companies can bid 8-10x of the EMD amount. From a consumer point of view, 5G tech will be 10 times faster than 4G and 30 times faster than 3G, and also it will allow a greater number of devices to be connected to a faster mobile network in a smaller area without any loss of speed.

Stock market indices gain for third consecutive day

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ NewDelhi

THE anticiaption of a less aggressive US Federal Reserve policy stance in near future after a 75 basis points increase in July seems to have lifted investors' sentiments worldwide, including India.

Adding to it, a positive quarterly (Q1FY23) show by financial heavyweights and foreign investors turning net buyers in July has pushed the benchmarks - Nifty and Sensex- to a three-month high.

The two indices soared for the third straight session on Friday and ended the month of July with a gain of over 8%, the best monthly gain since August last year.

On Friday, Sensex ended 712 points, or 1.25% higher at 57,570, while the Nifty50 shut shop at 17,158, up 229 points or 1.35 per cent on the back of heavy buying seen across metal and IT shares, along with index heavyweights like Reliance Industries, HDFC twins, Sun Pharma, and Bajaj Finance surging 1.24% to 5.45%.

"The Fed's 75 basis point rate hike was expected, and their comments dismissing the possibility of a recession and hinting at a slower pace of rate hikes in the upcoming months boosted global sentiment. As a result, the Indian rupee strengthened, potentially attracting foreign funds into the domestic market. On the domestic front, healthy quarterly numbers provided a cushion of relief," said Vinod Nair, Head of Research at Geojit Financial services.

Foreign investment rebounding to green has been a major source of relief for the street this month. The National Securities Depository Limited (NSDL) data as of July 29 shows FPIs have turned net buyers for the month. The net buy figure is ₹7.39 crore for July. This is in sharp contrast to the FPIs (foreign portfolio investors) sell figure of ₹50,145 crore in June.

"FPIs were buyers for 9 days in July. This reversal in FPI activity is one of the important factors driving the market rally in July," said VK Vijayakumar, Chief Investment Strategist at Geojit Financial Services.

He added that the steady decline in the dollar index from above 109 to around 106.20 now has slowed down capital outflows from other markets to the US. Good Q1 results from financials have resulted in increased demand for these stocks. Change in FPI strategy has led to short covering in financials and IT too in recent days.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ NewDelhi

PRIVATE lender Yes Bank is raising equity capital of $1.1 billion (₹8,900 crore) from funds affiliated with two global private equity investors - Carlyle and Advent International, with each investor acquiring up to 10% stake in the bank.

The capital will be raised through a combination of $640 million (₹5,100 crore) in equity shares and $475 million (₹3,800 crore) through equity share warrants. This exercise is now subject to shareholders' approval at the extraordinary general meeting (EGM) of the bank to be held on August 24, 2022, and relevant regulatory statutory approvals.

As per the bank, the capital raising will further bolster the capital adequacy and aid the bank's medium-to-long term sustainable growth objectives. Prashant Kumar, managing director & chief executive officer of the bank, said, "This is a testimony to the inherent strength of the Bank's franchise. We are excited about the incremental opportunities that this partnership creates for us and confident that both the investors will play a crucial role in the next growth phase of the Bank."

BIRMINGHAM 2022 commonwealth games

15 | BENGALURU SATURDAY 30.07.2022

BRUM'S DAY

1 India claimed its first-ever CWG medal before claiming independence from the British Empire. In the second CWG edition (1934) held in England, Rashid Anwar secured India's first medal, a bronze in wrestling (welterweight). Interestingly, only six Indian athletes took part in the 1934 Games.

No one has ever won twice and that was weighing on me. The crowd was really behind Georgia (Taylor-Brown) but I was soaking it up and it was really special. It's been a really strange start to the year and coming off the Olympics, and having Covid twice, but I knew a good show is possible here.
— Flora Duffy, who became the first triathlete to win two CWG gold

Weight on their shoulders: India eye 2 gold from 4 events

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

AFTER the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games, Mirabai Chanu turned into a household name. The diminutive Manipuri from a humble background braved odds to become the first medallist at the Olympics last year. The silver she won at the Games was etched in history and was made of sweat and toil.

On Saturday, when the Commonwealth Games medal hunt begins at the swanky weightlifting hall in Birmingham, Mirabai may not be the first medallist this time. Yet, she would be in action on Day One and firework is expected. Since India are considered as powerhouse in the sport, medals are expected from most weightlifters. In Gold Coast, she had won gold in 48kg with a CWG record. This time, all eyes will be on her and the record book.

To put it in perspective, her personal best in her weight category (49kg) is 207kg (88kg snatch and 119kg clean & jerk), 39kg more than the second-best lifter, Nigeria's Stella Kingsley. Kingley's best effort is 168kg (72kg 96kg). "CWG is relatively easy for me, I will be fighting with myself," the ace lifter had told mediapersons before leaving for the training camp.

Mirabai Chanu (49kg) will follow the two men (Sanket Sargar 55kg & Gururaja 61kg) to the platform on Saturday evening (India time). While S Bindyarani Devi (55kg) will be the last lifter in action.

The Indian Weightlifting Federation (IWLF) president Sahdev Yadav is expecting all four Indian lifters to finish on the podium with at least two of them returning with gold. "Of course, Mirabai is the best bet for gold for us in her weight category. Besides her, Sanket can finish on the top of the podium," Yadav said.

Indian lifters won nine medals including five gold, two silver and as many bronze in the previous edition. And head coach Vijay Sharma was bullish about his trainees eclipsing that record before leaving for Birmingham last month. "We expect to outdo our previous best," he had told this daily.

For the country, weightlifting has fetched second-most medals at the CWG so far after shooting. They have won 125 medals including 43 gold, 48 silver and 34 bronze by 2018 and are only behind Australia (159) in the list of most successful nations.

Meanwhile, Sanket is also expected to return with a gold medal in his weight category given his show at the Singapore Weightlifting International in February this year. The Maharashtra lifter had created Commonwealth and national records in clean and jerk and total lift on his way to gold in 55kg. The 22-year-old Sanket had lifted 256kg (113kg +143kg). Malaysia's Aniq bin Kasdan, who had set the previous record of 249kg, will be his closest rival.

Manipur lifter Bindyarani, who had won a gold in the clean and jerk at the 2021 world championships with a 114kg lift, may also finish with a 114kg lift, giving the country a perfect start in Birmingham.

INDIA ROUND-UP

Pak opponent no match to Thapa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

BOXER Shiva Thapa has captured medals in almost every competition that he has taken part in over the years in his rich career that spans over a decade. But he has missed out on a CWG medal so farm, having only taken part once in 2014.

First pugilist from the country to take the ring in the ongoing edition, Shiva made his intent clear from the start and showed that he means business this time. Pakistan's Suleman Baloch was no match for the Indian boxer in the opening round fight, with all the five ringside judges voting in favour of Thapa.

Easy for shuttlers

It was a foregone conclusion before the start. India versus Pakistan. There's always a big hype when these two teams cross path but when it comes to badminton, the two sides are poles apart. That was evident on Friday when the two sides collided in a Group I clash of the mixed team event. Kidambi Srikanth, PV Sindhu barely broke sweat to help India assure a comfortable win.

Meanwhile, the Indian women table tennis team, led by Manika Batra, started its title defence in emphatic fashion, outclassing South Africa 3-0 in its opening Group 2 tie.

Australia show the killer instinct India missed

GOMESH S @ Chennai

IT was always going to be a day of many firsts. After all, women's cricket was making its debut in the Commonwealth Games. Which meant, every inconsequential event that happened in the game between India and Australia would probably be recorded as a trivia i.e first four, first six, first wicket and so on. Apart from all the nitty gritty statistics that would excite a cricket geek, there was more to it.

But as India skipper Harmanpreet Kaur opted to bat, the dust settled and it was all about the contest between the bat and ball, just like any other T20 game. And for the better part of the next three hours, India walked the talk, treating Australia like any other team and dominating them. Smriti Mandhana took on the bowlers from ball one. She walked down against pacers Darcie Brown and Megan Schutt, used her feet against off-spinner Ashleigh Gardner, racing to 24 off 16 before throwing her hands at a wide delivery off Brown in the third over fourth.

While Shafali Verma tried to take on spinner, letting Yastika Bhatia handle the seamers, the duo, especially the latter struggled to keep the innings going. Shafali got a life when Meg Lanning misjudged a catch and fell in no man's land. That seemed to be the turning point as the 19-year-old went berserk, going from 20 off 21 to 48 off 31, despite Bhatia's dismissal. But as she fell short of her fifty by two runs, Harmanpreet led the charge. The Indian captain's purple patch continued as she smashed a 34-ball 52, with little support from the other end, as they finished with 154/8.

The bigger moment though was India's bowling powerplay as Renuka Singh Thakur dismissed Alyssa Healy, Meg Lanning, Beth Mooney and Tahlia McGrath, all for single digits, in her first three overs. Although a couple were off good deliveries and some were inadvertent, India were in a great position, having reduced the mighty Australia to 49/5. It seemed like everything was going their way and India were off to a dream start in the Commonwealth Games.

Ashleigh Gardner (middle) top-scored with 52 to guide Australia to a three-wicket victory over India in the Group A match at Edgbaston on Friday | AFP

That's when reality kicked in. The well-oiled machine that Australia are, Gardner (52 n.o), first with Grace Harris (37), and then with the lower-order, made the most of India's tactical blunders, taking Australia home with no trouble whatsoever, with three wickets and one over to spare. That Australia scored 108 runs at 9.26 runs per over after losing five wickets said the same old story. The gap between Australia and other teams is bigger than ever and you can never know if you are on top against them until you have actually won.

For all the dreamy start about every small exciting detail that was associated with women's cricket's debut in CWG, in the end, the result was nothing new. It only reiterated the troubles that India had all along — role clarity, on-field tactics, fielding fitness and more. And they would want to address them as best as they can if they were to qualify and beat a top team in the knockout stages of the tournament.

Brief scores: India 154/8 in 50 ovs (Harmanpreet 52, Shafali 48; Jonassen 4/22) lost to Australia 157/7 (Gardner 52 n.o, Harris 37; Renuka 4/18).

As off-field battle continues, judoka Jasleen ready to fight on the mat

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

IN the last month, judoka Jasleen Singh Saini had to travel between Jalandhar and New Delhi four-five times. Even when his 2022 Commonwealth Games-bound teammates were training at Delhi's IG Stadium, the 24-year-old judoka was busy with a court case and inquiry launched against him to probe alleged misconduct/misdeeds committed on June 25 in Madrid.

Even a day before the opening ceremony (Thursday) in Birmingham, he was not sure about his participation in the quadrennial event. However, as the day passed, the High Court of Delhi considered his plea allowing him to be a part of the event thus giving him a big relief. And why not? He had missed the Tokyo flight by a whisker last year. Despite being in form of his life, he was left with no option but to be a mute spectator as judo was not part of the 2018 Gold Coast CWG.

"Ahead of the 2014 Glasgow CWG, I finished third in my weight category and missed the event. So it can be said that I have been waiting for eight years to compete in this event," Jasleen said.

A gold medallist at the Commonwealth Championships held in Birmingham two years ago, Jasleen's roommate was accused of sexual harassment by a Spanish woman in Madrid. As he and one more judoka were present in the room along with the accused, the court-appointed observer suspended the trio with immediate effect from participating in future sporting events both domestic and international until further orders. An inquiry was also initiated against them.

"It was very difficult but people who know me were standing firmly behind me. They know I could never do such things. They encouraged me to keep the faith," he added. He, however, didn't inform his parents about the incident and still believes they are unaware of the Madrid incident despite it being snowballed into a huge controversy. "They used to ask me about the preparations as I was at home only. I don't want to break their hearts by telling them about the incident. More than me, it's them who have been waiting for me to win a CWG medal."

As he was not called to the pre-departure camp, Jasleen decided to train at a local academy in Jalandhar to keep himself ready for the event in case he gets relief from the court. But it was not easy given his mental state and frequent travelling to the national capital. "I would be lying if I say I was not affected by all these developments. I was mentally disturbed which forced me to skip a few training sessions. Then there was this court case and appearances before the inquiry committee. Despite this, I tried my best to stay in touch with the game to give myself a chance to finish on the podium."

With competitions in his weight category (-66kg) scheduled on Day 1 (August 1) of judo events, Jasleen believes he can make up for the lost time to some extent in a couple of days. "I have been fighting it out on and off the field for quite some time now. Hope that experience holds me in good stead for the event," he added.

Sriram leaves Oz coaching job to focus on RCB role

Former India all-rounder Sridharan Sriram has decided to end his tenure as Australia's spin bowling coach to focus on his role with IPL side Royal Challengers Bangalore. The development comes ahead of Australia's tour of India next year. Sriram, who played eight ODIs between 2000 and 2004, has been part of the Australian coaching set up since 2015.

THE CHAIR-FULLY CHOSEN ONES

In a game where players spend hours sitting, posture & comfort are of utmost importance

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Mahabalipuram

FOR something as mundane as a chair, it has had a colourful history in the world of chess. This most basic of furniture has been the subject of multiple subplots including political intrigue bordering on espionage.

In the 1978 World Championships between Viktor Korchnoi and Anattoly Karpov, the chairs were even x-rayed to check if there were any attempts at skullduggery. In the infamous 1972 encounter between Boris Spassky and Bobby Fischer, the latter imported a chair from the US after being very unhappy with the ones that were shown to him. That's why no two players have the same chair – it all depends on the individual. One of them might prefer to sit on a high-end gaming chair while his/her opponent would be content with a simple office chair.

While scandals concerning the chair have thankfully not received much airtime in the 21st century, its importance cannot be understated. World champion Magnus Carlsen, for example, rates the chair as one of the most important pieces of chess equipment. You can see why. In a game where players could spend more than five hours sitting, posture and being comfortable is of utmost importance. If you become irritated with the chair, it's very easy to lose focus. Curiously, at the Olympiad here, there are just two types of chairs that are in operation; both of them are regular, visitor chairs. It does have an arm-rest. There is also enough cushioning at the back to ensure players don't face back-ache hours into a game. In case a player wants to replace a chair, the organisers will be happy to replace it mid-game. "All the chairs and tables you see here are according to FIDE (International Chess Federation) specifications," says R Anantharam, venue in-charge. "The table should be 85 cms width, 110 cms in length and 74 cms in height. All chairs were manufactured in Delhi. They were brought to the AICF office. Once the federation passed it, they were approved. In all, 2500 chairs have been brought to the venue, we have spares also." To ensure against wear and tear, the organisers will maintain them on a daily basis till the Olympiad is over. "We have received no complaints so far," the venue in-charge says. "We will be cleaning them on a daily basis, chairs that need to be replaced as well as repaired. There is no specification for the chair. But if players ask for a different type of chair (a gaming chair, for example) the organisers can't oblige their requests."

44 CHESS OLYMPIAD

All six Open and Women's teams got off to perfect records on the opening round of the chess Olympiad on Friday.

A few players had a few nervy moments but ultimately their superiority prevailed.

Meanwhile, in one of the day's big results, US' Levon Aronian, the best player (by rating) on show on Friday (both Magnus Carlsen and Fabiano Caruana sat out), clung on for a draw against Angola's David Silva.

RESULTS (ONLY INDIAN TEAMS):
OPEN: India A bt Zimbabwe 4-0, India B bt UAE 4-0, India C bt South Sudan 4-0
WOMEN: India A bt Tajikistan 4-0, India B bt Wales 4-0, India C bt Hong Kong 4-0

Anish Giri, World No 10 (Elo rating 2760), has lots of experience, having played in a wide variety of events: Olympiad, Candidates and online ones during the pandemic. So, he's very intimate with the topic of chairs. "You have a horrible chair, your whole day is ruined," the 28-year-old who's spearheading the Netherlands' challenge, says. "Every now and then, the organiser comes up with a beautiful chair with a logo and everything but then, it's a weird chair. You sit in it, it's great for sitting in a lobby and having a drink but it's much harder to play chess in it because you need to maintain a posture that helps you keep your focus."

Giri has such a deep understanding that he even divides chairs into four distinct categories. "There is the simple office chair, for me it's one of the favourites. There's the gaming chair, which is also pretty comfortable. They look very specific and I don't think they are used a lot at Classical events. Then, there's like the simple chairs, some people like them. I find them a bit too rough to sit on. There are also special chairs, which look very beautiful and big but they are not very comfortable. My own preference is the office chair."

FIDE doesn't have a set chair specification but players, according to Giri, don't travel with their own furniture. "It's an incredible inconvenience to travel with a chair," he says.

Viswanathan Anand, who has sat in a fair number of chairs in a career spanning almost four decades, is an antithesis to Carlsen. While the latter has been known to be very picky, Anand, a mentor for the Indian teams, reveals he didn't notice what he sat in. "I hardly noticed 90 per cent of the time," he says. "I just sat where I sat. In big events, you can't be sitting with individual requests. The only place I noticed the chair was at the Worlds where there was an elaborate ritual of picking one."

It may sound silly to attach this much importance over something that's literally a piece of furniture but like Giri says, 'it's also very important'.

FIDE will revisit format, says Anand

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Mahabalipuram

THE International Chess Federation (FIDE) will likely revisit the format that identifies the world champion, especially if the current regime retains power at the elections next month in Chennai. Viswanathan Anand, Arkady Dvorkovich's running mate, said that it was time to relook the pathway that takes players from pretenders to champions via the Candidates.

"I think it's certainly time to revisit the format," he said during a promotional event in the coastal town that's organising the 44th chess Olympiad.

"Let's not forget, once upon a time it was brilliant. When I started out as a junior, it was nice to know that all I had to do was to play the zonals and inter-zone before entering the world cycle. It was a simple pathway that led to the world title. It wasn't a magical thing 50 years ago. In the modern context, it needs to be revisited. All there is is a contradiction; we have to have it every two years or others can't get any chance at the world title. And for a champion, it's too much, especially if he/she keeps winning every two years, (it) becomes unbearable. The format, especially the World Championship, has come into sharp focus after Magnus Carlsen decided to not defend his title. It's been speculated that he is not a fan of the format.

Delhi HC seeks status report before EFI polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

THE Equestrian Federation of India seems to be heading towards turmoil again. After days of allegation and counter-allegations between its members, both executive and otherwise, the secretary general has been suspended through a resolution carried out on an email. According to an email by Jagat Singh, who was nominated president of EFI before being removed, had sought a resolution asking secretary general Jaiveer Singh be suspended on email from the executive board members.

Jagat Singh, nominated President, said they have taken the action since the Secretary General was taking decisions in an arbitrary manner. "The Secretary General is supposed to work under EC, he can't take decisions arbitrarily," Jagat Singh was quoted as saying.

Since most of the members agreed, Javeer has been put under suspension. Interestingly, Jagat had also finished his tenure in the EFI. Javeer was seeking election of the EFI saying that since most of the executive board members have ended their tenure and not too members left elections needed to be held. However, the Delhi High Court on Friday directed the EFI to not hold elections right now. Instead it has directed court-appointed observer SY Quraishi to submit a status report. According to the faction led by the state units, EFI had sought permission of the court to hold elections, they raised objections saying even the observer had reservations about the elections.

WEAVES OF HOPE

These B'lureans are putting their heads together to connect wearers to weavers, with their saree line 'Mrinalini'

ISHRATH MUBEEN

PASSIONATE about arts, crafts, and repurposing things, Yashodhara Marar and team have launched a saree line, 'Mrinalini', to help weavers connect directly to wearers at prices more reasonable than big brands out there. The pandemic affected weavers like the rest of the world, and they had no help at hand. "My aunt and I got calls from weavers, who we always bought our sarees from. They were desperately looking for a channel to reach out to customers as they had absolutely no income," says Marar, whose personal collection is mostly directly bought from weavers, a lot of who have been working out of their homes.

According to Marar, despite generations in the same profession, one of the weavers did not even have yarn to weave and many from the next generation were moving to nearby cities to hunt for jobs since they saw no future in this age-old business. "This was the point we realised that we are on the verge of losing our country's tradition and heritage. We connected him to one of the NGOs that helps weavers procure yarn, and that made a huge difference to him. That is when we decided to formalise and become the link between the weavers and wearers," says Marar, wife of Hari Marar, MD and CEO, BIAL.

Mrinalini was born when four friends with a similar vision came together – Shivani Chandran, Hamsini Hariharan, Vijaylakshmi Rajagopal and Marar.

The team behind 'Mrinalini'

Mrinalini has sold about 900 sarees to date. "The idea is to help the weavers move their stock. A lot of profit doesn't even go back to the origin – that is the weavers. We intend to keep this business small and support the cause," Marar says.

Each weave is spectacular and unique, and as a nation, we were running the risk of losing weavers to other jobs, says Marar. "SHYV, which stands for the first letters of our names, comprises the mangalgiris, silk cotton and Bengal cotton while Mrinalini comprises a luxury collection with silk. These are two distinct brands selling two very different sarees," she says.

Although a saree is a traditional outfit, they are trying to make the look more trendy by producing sarees which can be worn in a contemporary fashion. "There is a huge scope in making it relevant in terms of design and style. It is time to realise that the saree is a hit," says Marar.

My aunt and I got calls from weavers, who we always bought our sarees from. They were desperately looking for a channel to reach out to customers as they had absolutely no income

Early Diagnosis and Treatment Key for Eradication of Viral Hepatitis

DR. UMESH JALIHAL

Hepatitis means inflammation of the liver. Currently, there are 5 main types of hepatitis viruses, categorized as A, B, C, D and E. Hepatitis B and C, referred to as severe ones, are blood-borne viral infections impacting the liver. In India, the prevalence of hepatitis B surface antigen (HBsAg) is 3–4.2% with over 40 million HBV carriers. Each year over 1,15, 000 Indian population dies of hepatitis B and related health issues. There are 10 known HBV genotypes, which are classified from A to J; among which the most common genotype in India is D, followed by A and C.

The prevalence of HCV infection in the nation is about 0.5–1.5%. Despite the low prevalence, India due to its large population has a significant proportion of the global burden of HCV. About 12–18 million people are thought to be infected with HCV in India with an estimated viraemic rate of about 80% corresponding to a viraemic prevalence of about 0.68%.

World Hepatitis Day 2022

Like other viruses, exposure to Hepatitis B or C virus makes a person infected with hepatitis B or C. These viruses cause inflammation of the liver.

As the world is set to observe Hepatitis Day on 28th July 2022, themed 'I can't wait, the more emphasis has been on raising awareness of the global burden of viral hepatitis. WHO and other institutional alliances have called for novel action aimed at bringing hepatitis care closer to the primary health facilities and communities, resulting in easy access to treatment and care for hepatitis patients of all types. Envisaging hepatitis-free world by 2030, WHO has set goals such as reducing the occurrence of new infections of hepatitis B and C by 90%; reducing hepatitis-related deaths from liver cirrhosis and cancer by 65%; ensuring at least 90% of people with hepatitis B and C virus are diagnosed, and at least 80% of those eligible receive appropriate treatment.

Looking into the risk factors of Hepatitis B and C individually, Hepatitis B is largely transmitted through body fluids. It can be transmitted at birth from a mother who is hepatitis B-infected or through exposure in early childhood to body fluids, blood, or contaminated medical instruments. Hepatitis B & C transmission can occur by injection drug use, tattoos and body piercings, high-risk sexual contact, blood transfusions, contaminated medical instruments, saloons with no proper sterilisation & organ transplantation. In most cases, hepatitis B develops gradually over several decades, and therefore most patients do not have any symptoms. People with advanced liver disease like liver cirrhosis may have complications and symptoms that reflect liver failure. Other symptoms include:

- Swelling of abdomen and legs
- Confusion and tremors (encephalopathy)
- Blood in vomiting, or blood in the stool

Laboratory diagnosis of hepatitis B infection focuses on the detection of HBsAg. Acute HBV infection is characterised by the presence of HBsAg and immunoglobulin M (IgM) antibodies to the core antigen HBcAg.

Most having chronic hepatitis C infection have no symptoms; however, some may have very nonspecific symptoms like fatigue and right abdominal discomfort. Often, symptoms that confirm the diagnosis of hepatitis C are obvious only at the end stage liver disease, when the patient develops either liver cirrhosis or liver failure. As hepatitis B and C typically have no specific symptoms, several people who have the viruses don't know it.

For Hepatitis B, usually, patients require treatment when their HBV level is high, and when laboratory tests demonstrate significant swelling or injury to the liver. Currently, seven drugs have been approved till date for hepatitis B, two of which are considered to be first-line treatments. These drugs are once-daily oral medications that are very effective at overturning the virus to very low or untraceable levels over the long term.

Consequently, the treatment goal is to control the virus long-term and decrease the risk of hepatitis B-related complications such as cirrhosis and liver cancer. The advent of new hepatitis C treatments within the last three years permits the use of oral medications that indicate significant improvements with respect to safety and efficacy. As hepatitis C has 6 types, patients should speak with their doctor about the most suitable oral treatment. Most oral therapies come with cure rates over 90% and are typically short, lasting for about 12 weeks.

Having said this, the important crux remains on early diagnosis, treatment, and care of viral Hepatitis which is again conjoined with cohesive efforts to ensure there are no fatalities. The onus lies with every individual to carry forward the awareness message and help the patients in their time of need.

FIT BIT

UTTHITA PARSVAKONASANA VARIATION
(EXTENDED SIDE ANGLE POSE VARIATION)

This pose is often included in Vinyasa flow as part of a standing sequence. It is a great opportunity to deepen into a classic shape with a focus on balance, breath, and extending through the side body. You might also use it to prepare for poses that have a wide groin spread. This is also a great side body stretch.

STEPS
- Begin in Tadasana (Mountain Pose). Exhale and step your left foot behind with the front foot staying front.
- Lift and extend your arms out horizontally from your sides, with palms down.
- Angle your right heel toward the centre of your mat. Somewhere between 90 and 45 degrees is acceptable.
- Bend your right knee so that your calf and thigh form a right angle with your thigh parallel to the floor.
- Bring your right hand inside or outside the right foot, as per comfort.
- Place the right fingertips on the floor to avoid dumping the weight in the shoulder. You can keep a block too.
- Lift your left arm up and extend it over the ear. Press the sides of the back foot firmly.
- Open your chest and make sure your left shoulder is aligned over your right shoulder. Gaze towards your left hand.
- Lift the torso up on an inhale extending arms wide. Pivot the feet and torso to face the top of the mat and step forward, returning to Tadasana. Then repeat with the left foot forward.

BENEFITS
- Main focus is on alignment of the legs.
- Strengthening and flexing the joints and legs.
- Great opening of the chest and shoulders.
- Improves the breathing and gives a quick energy to the entire body.
- Tones the muscles around the chest, arms, abdomen, hips and legs.
- Backaches can be healed. Flexes spine.
- Stimulates abdominal organs and aids digestion.
- Helps dealing with the problems of sciatica.
- Reduces PMS in women.
- Improves the blood circulation around calves and hamstrings muscles.

LADIES' NIGHT OUT!

THERE was a time when it was not common to see ladies drinking liquor. In fact, they used to generally be offered only soft beverages by default in regular cocktail parties. This has all changed now, and one sees a lot of ladies across age groups, enjoying their spirits, both in straight form, and in cocktails as well.

Many bars have a 'Ladies Night', where they offer free or subsidised drinks to women on a particular night of the week. This has also contributed to more and more women experimenting with different drinks and cocktails.

I am often asked what drinks women prefer. Earlier, one could easily say gin or vodka, but that is no longer the case. Today, its very difficult to pinpoint a particular liquor that finds favour with the ladies, especially with the younger generation. However, from my experience, I have put together some cocktails that I have found are popular with everyone, but more so with women. In all the recipes, mix the ingredients together, pour it into the right glass and enjoy as the evening gets better.

Darshan and Tharun Kishore Sudhir

Darshan's film with Tharun Sudhir is all set to roll from August 5

Producer Rockline Venkatesh, who is bankrolling the project confirmed the news and said the muhurath will take place on the auspicious day of Varamahalakshmi

A SHARADHAA

DARSHAN, who is currently dubbing for V Harikrishna Kranti is gearing up to begin shooting for his next film. The Challenging Star, who is teaming up with director Tharun Kishore Sudhir for an action drama, tentatively titled D56 is all set to shoot for the film from August 5. "The muhurath of our film to take place early morning on the auspicious occasion of Varamahalakshmi festival, post which, we will begin the shooting," confirmed producer Rockline Venkatesh, who is bankrolling the project under his home banner, Rockline Entertainments.

The actor-director's previous collaboration Roberrt (2020), was a box office hit and received a positive response. This track record has raised anticipation of the duo's next project. The first-look image of the film (D56), which is said to be based on true incidents, revealed by the makers featuring a dog protecting a flock of sheep created a buzz among the audience. The commercial entertainer headlined by actor Darshan is said to highlight today's system and will have a relevant message to society.

Rockline Venkatesh

"The dog considers protection as its prime duty and the sacrifices it takes to protect the sheep represent its selfless nature," says Tharun in his interview with CE explaining the themed poster. The makers, who are in the process of finalising the cast and technical crew have planned the first schedule in Bengaluru. The team will be later heading to Hyderabad, where they will be covering some crucial portions.

Meanwhile, Darshan's Kranti, which is almost through with shooting, is currently in the post-production stage and will be released this year.

Sudeep in an unseen avatar stands out in this engaging thriller

A SHARADHAA

RATING 3/5

VIKRANT RONA
Cast: Sudeep, Nirup Bhandari, and Neetha Ashok
Director: Anup Bhandari

RIGHT from the time of Vikrant Rona's announcement, the vibes surrounding the project were overwhelmingly positive. This was the first collaboration between Sudeep and Anup Bhandari. Sudeep's flair, sophistication, and style met Anup's originality in the film, which also starred the filmmaker's brother and actor Nirup Bhandari.

There was a lot of hype with the trailer, interviews, and songs, and after watching the film, it is clear that Vikrant Rona has indeed risen to the occasion.

With Sudeep in the titular role, Vikrant Rona is a page-turner that takes us a few decades back to the remote village of Kamarottu, which surrounds a rainforest. The village with a sordid secret has unexplainable events happening, which are attributed to the supernatural. Aparna Ballal (a) Panna (Neetha Ashok) arrives in the village with her Mumbai-based family. We are also introduced to Sanjeev Gambhira (Nirup Bhandari), the long-lost son of the village head. Then we have the entry of police officer Vikrant Rona (Sudeep), who is accompanied by his daughter Guddi. The film runs on two parallel plots while the attention remains on a haunted house with a mystery surrounding it. Every person living in the village is looked at as either a victim or a suspect.

The mystery unfolds in the second half when all the dots are connected. Will Vikrant Rona finally succeed in achieving his mission comes with frequent twists and turns, keeping the audience intrigued and ending with a surprise climax.

Anup, who brought in a fresh approach to murder mysteries with Rangitaranga, retains much of these elements in Vikrant Rona too. The thriller, which also comes with spooky effects at regular intervals keeps the audience engaged, with every move of Vikrant Rona and Sanjeev Gambhira being under the scanner. But the soul of Vikrant Rona is Guddi. You should watch the film to reason it out.

Of course, there are loopholes in the film, and the reason behind the revenge plot is believable but takes too long to get to the point. Some scenes are left inexplicably incomplete.

Although Sudeep owns the frame with his trademark style of mass elements, it is interesting how he has placed complete trust in the vision of Anup. Sudeep shoulders the commercial entertainer by delivering an excellent performance.

Nirup's performance is on point, and Neetha Ashok shines too as she makes a successful transition from tele serials to films. Milana Nagaraj's role is small but is very effective.

The film is technically brilliant, and Shivakumar's artwork is one of the biggest highlights of Vikrant Rona, a visual spectacle, which has also been released in 3D. Anup's Rangitaranga collaborators DoP William David and composer Ajaneesh Loknath too elevate Vikrant Rona at all the right times.

Although Vikrant Rona might remind us of Anup's own film, it does stand on its own merit, and with Sudeep in a completely new avatar, this will definitely pull in the audience.

A still from Pedro

Critically-acclaimed Pedro to premiere at the Indian Film Festival of Melbourne 2022

The film directed by Natesh Hegde is produced under the Rishab Shetty Films banner

CE FEATURES

CRITICALLY-acclaimed Kannada film Pedro is set for an Australian Premiere at The Indian Film Festival of Melbourne. The Festival headed by Mitu Bhowmik Lange, which is currently in its 13th-year edition, is set to take place from 12-20th August. The festival will be screening 100 films in 23 languages.

Pedro directed by debutant Natesh Hegde and backed by Rishab Shetty's production house was among the popular Kannada films that attracted attention nationally and internationally. THERE ARE NO HEROES, VILLAINS OR PLOT-LINES IN THIS TIRESOME THRILLER

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

AT several points during Ek Villain Returns I wanted to go out of the theatre, to the restroom, wash my face, look in the mirror and think about my choices. If there will be a multiverse of bad films, this one is the real baddie. I saw pimply teenagers with college bags, pressing their temples while gawking at the screen. Maybe sleeping in the class would have been better.

The plot seems like a big jigsaw puzzle which wished to align in a big, yellow smiley face, but with several pieces missing, the final picture looks like a bunch of crooked teeth. The film's hero (or villain?) is Gautam Mehra played by Arjun Kapoor. He is a rich brat whose angst probably comes from watching too many Joker films. In just the first few scenes he gives a Gunda-isque character introduction: 'Na aql na shaql, kamane wala mera dad, main sabse bad' (No brains, no beauty; the one who earns is my dad, my job is being bad) Enter the love interest in the form of Tara Sutaria's Aarvi. She is part time aspiring singer with daddy issues and full time damsel in distress. Gautam and Aarvi fall in love but then he betrays her because he already told us he is Ek Villain. In a parallel plotline John Abraham plays Bhairav, a reserved cab driver obsessed with ratings and Disha Patani's Rasika. Is he Ek Villain? Rasika is a mall employee who seems like Shraddha Kapoor's Ayesha from Ek Villain (2014) broke bad. She wears a twisted smile after causing an accident and is maybe Ek Villain. There is also J.D. Chakravarthy who plays a cop investigating a series of murders but he doesn't like calling the perpetrator a serial killer. Guess what he terms him?

RATING 1/5

Ek Villain Returns tries to tell a story from the perspective of jilted lovers, psychopaths and man-children. Understanding is one thing but it somehow expects the viewers to sympathise with them because they are 'damaged'. Director Mohit Suri's heroines oscillate between being submissive and psychotic. The heroes, on the other hand, are just ripped mannequins who punch and stare on command. Arjun Kapoor as Gautam enjoys himself too much in the beginning and then loses interest and the plot. John Abraham seems confused between doing a Force (2011) and a Jhootha Hi Sahi (2010) and ends up doing a John. Tara's voice in the song Shaamat emotes better than she does on screen, and then there is Disha Patani.

When it comes to lucidity, the film takes long jumps of faith and timelines. The narrative shifts awkwardly six months ahead and three months back and leaves you wanting a calculator or a time machine. Even the direction style changes anytime. It starts off as an unintentional parody of found footage horror, hangs in the middle as a B-grade Korean thriller and ends like a badly made Saw film (which is all of them after the first). If there has to be one, music is the only saving grace in the film. Dil and Galliyan Returns try to reprise the melodious magic of Murder 2 (2011) and Aashiqui 2 (2013). All in all, Ek Villain Returns is a narrative-less music video which would have sufficed as an audio file.

A caper like any other

GOOD LUCK JERRY

SHILAJIT MITRA

A Bihari girl moves to Punjab and gets mixed up in the state's nefarious drug trade. At first, Good Luck Jerry struck me as a retread of Udta Punjab (2016). With two major differences. One, Siddharth Sengupta's film is a remake (of Kolamaavu Kokila, from 2018). Two, there's nothing truly 'nefarious' or intimidating about these drug dealers. One guy, for instance, has a brace around his neck. Another looks like a doped-out cousin of Lovinder Singh Lucky. A third, despite facial similarities to a hardline Maharashtra politician, is quite the chicken at heart. A fourth talks in fish metaphors.

RATING 2.5/5

Then there's Jerry (Janhvi Kapoor). As mousy as her name, she's the least conceivable as a drug runner—and thus the perfect fit for the job.

When the film starts, Jerry is down on her luck, working as a masseuse and helping her mother (Mita Vashisht) and younger sister (Samta Sudiksha) sell momos out of their rundown home. "Only veg momos," her mother declares proudly, parceling them out in batches for assorted local north-easterns to sell. The mix of migrant identities leads to a nice bit, where a racist joke elicits a prompt racist jibe.

When her mother comes down with cancer, Jerry tries desperately to gather the treatment money. She's eventually hired by Timmi (Jaswant Singh Dalal), a local gangster, who sees potential in the lone shy girl ferrying heroin packets in her tiffin box. As Jerry starts breaking sad, the film kicks into a high gear. There are some funny sequences (a rooftop interrogation nicely oscillates between danger and farce). But there's also a lot of empty quirk: gaudy set decorations, a song called 'Paracetamol', Deepak Dobriyal in funky golden boots and a jacket with peacocks on them.

Deepak—one of our best, most effortlessly comedic actors—struggles to perk up this film. The second-half runs out of steam. Janhvi Kapoor is adequately cast as Jerry, requiring (and indeed offering) little more than a nervous capering spunk.

All the same, the decision to make her character Bihari should have been avoided. When she says, "Zada mirchi daal diye ka?", you can hear the Bihari spill out over each syllable. You don't need to be from the Darbhanga region to see the gaps. Just listen to Mita Vashisht's raw, natural imitation of the Maithili tongue.

Throughout the film, Jerry is hectored, harassed and talked down to by the men in the story. Her household, too, is frequently beset by unsolicited male interference. The mounting discomfort makes you wait for a payoff. Yet, in the film's climax, Jerry is all but forgotten as cops and criminals convene for a chaotic stand-off. She does wise up and take control of her story, but not in a way that's thrilling or revelatory or makes a lasting point. It would have still worked if the other characters weren't so darned cartoonish. "There is only one difference between selling momos and selling drugs," Jerry says at one point, "The difference of fear." But I couldn't tell so from watching Good Luck Jerry.
